Chicago Allows English Accent Now, Says Will

(Special To The News)

CHICAGO, April 24. — Say Chicago is as quiet — only one big murder headlined and Englishmen are allowed to use their own accent on the street again.

The League of Women Voters are here in convention demanding these planks in the next platform:

Democratic women want birth control for Republicans and Republican women want equal corruption for both sexes.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Pittsburgh is sending a delegation of wholesalers here tonight on a trade tour of western Pennsylvania. The visitors are coming in buses and will be quartered at The Castleton for the evening and stop-over. New Castle business men will extend a welcome to the visitors, and it is Pa Newc's hope that their stay in New Castle will be a happy one. Welcome, Pittsburghers!

Flying around the country and dropping in on new airports, then making banquet speeches, evidently got too tedious for Clarence Chamberlin, noted New York-to-Germany flier, who was in New Castle a short time ago. Press reports announce that he left yesterday in his plane to be among those to escort the Bremen fliers to New York from Greenely Island. Chamberlin is acquainted with both of the German trans-Atlantic fliers, he said while in New Castle.

Primary election day dawned with prospects of some real ideal spring weather. Instead of the usual gloomy, rainy day, the sun was shining brightly and everything looked roseate. But it didn't last long. During the morning the clouds began to appear and weather got back to normal for this spring.

On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday New Castle will be host to the delegates to the 33rd district conference of the Rotarians. Many visitors who are leaders in their respective communities will be in New Castle. Every citizen of this city can aid somewhat in the kind of an impression that these visitors gain while in this city. Pa Newc would suggest that homes and places of business be lighted up thoroughly during the evenings that these visitors are in New Castle, as one means of making a favorable impression.

Work of erecting the curb lights on Mercer street is in progress. The street widening work is about completed, and with the installation of the curb lighting system one of the notable improvements in the downtown area of recent years will be completed. It is expected that the curb lights will be ready this week.

Pa Newc has wondered why so many people leave their porch lights on at night. Last night he found out. One of his friends broke down and confessed to the fact that every time he goes to see a new girl he asks her to leave the porch light burning so that he can be sure that he is going to the right house. And again, there you are.

Work on the Charles McConnell memorial cabin at Camp Phillips is progressing rapidly, says Scout Executive J. Lee Calahan, and his statement is backed up by Louis B. Round, who has quite an interest in the boy movement in the county. Dedicated to one of the most loved Scouts in the county, it will be finished in time for the western Pennsylvania camporee.

Boys' Week starts Sunday, April 29. We have Eat An Apple Week, Change Your Shirt Week, Don't Cough Week, but none of these seem to Pa Newc to be as important as Boy Week. For the youngsters will soon be citizens, and it is up to those who now are a trifle older to show them every courtesy.

Business axiom: The lower his rating in Bradstreet's the more he delights in the words "proposition" and "conference."

Time Change To Be Made Here On Sunday, June 3

Daylight Savings Program Also To End First Sunday Of September

INDUSTRIES FAVOR SHORTER PERIOD

Announcement Of Plan Is Made Today; Schools Not To Be Affected

New Castle daylight savings time will not start next Sunday, in accordance with the time change followed by Pittsburgh and New York. By agreement of the industries of New Castle, the fast time schedule will not be observed in New Castle until the first Sunday in June. Likewise, the daylight savings time schedule will conclude with the first Sunday in September in New Castle, instead of being continued throughout the month of September, as in Pittsburgh.

This is the announcement made this morning by representatives of practically all of the industries of New Castle as to the program to be observed with regard to changing time for the summer.

Only Three Months

The program adopted means that instead of having five months of daylight savings time as in the past few years, there will be but three, and

Former New Castle Man Is New Vice President Of Carnegie Steel

SUCCEEDS HUGHES IN CARNEGIE CO.

Another New Castle man has been honored by the Carnegie Steel company and by a coincidence, takes the place of still another New Castle man who has gone still higher in the councils of the United States Steel corporation.

John S. Oursler, former general superintendent of the New Castle district of the Carnegie Steel company has been named vice president of the company, vice I. Lamont Hughes, who has been named a vice president of the United States Steel Corporation.

Mr. Oursler left New Castle in 1918 to assume charge of the wartime steel plant which was being built on Neville Island, and at the close of the war was made general superintendent of the Homestead works.

Red Cross Chairman Here

While he was in New Castle, which was for a period of many years, Mr. Oursler was prominent in civic affairs. His work as president of the Lawrence County Chapter of the American Red Cross will be remembered, as will his work in other civic and fraternal work. While a resident of New Castle he was honored by being advanced to the 33rd degree of Freemasonry.

Since Oursler has been at Homestead he has carried through an immense reconstruction program covering a period of nearly five years and which is about completed. This project was one of the biggest industrial programs ever carried out in the Pittsburgh district, and has put the Homestead works to the fore-front as the most modern type of steel mill that science and engineering has thus far developed.

Rise Is Rapid

Oursler is a Pennsylvanian, being born in Wheatland, Mercer county, March 3, 1868, the son of Benjamin J. and Sarah D. Dulcina Oursler. He attended the high school and in 1888 was married in Sharpsville to Sarah Ellin Truesdale. His first job was with the Spearmann Iron company of Sharpsville in the same year and soon afterward he went to the Carnegie Steel company as a foreman at Edith Furnace on the Northside, then the old city of Allegheny.

Successively he became superintendent of the Mingo Furnaces at

PRIMARY BALLOTING LIGHT THROUGHOUT ENTIRE STATE

Delegates Not Instructed By Day's Primary

Pennsylvania Delegates To Republican Convention Chosen In Primary Ballot

PRIMARY LACKS SPIRITED FIGHTS

Quietest Voting Day In Many Years; District Fights Interesting

By WILLIAM B. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, April 24. —Although Pennsylvania today selects its delegates to the national conventions of the two major political parties, those chosen will not be bound to any particular presidential candidate.

In addition the voters today are denoting their choice for nominees to the United States Senate, Congress, state treasurer, auditor general, judge of the superior court, 25 state senators, 208 members of the House and party committees.

Selection of the delegates to the Republican national convention has attracted but little attention, not only because of the lack of interest, but lack of contests as well. In addition to the 72 district delegates the state will be entitled to seven delegates-at-large. There are few contests in the districts for delegates and as only seven filed for the at-large places, their selection is assured.

Delegates Uninstructed

The Pennsylvania Republican delegation will go to the convention uninstructed, in accordance with the policy of Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, and his nephew, W. L. Mellon, the Republican state chairman. Political leaders have not attempted to discount a strong Hoover for President sentiment in the state, but Republican leaders want to be in position to back any candidate at the convention.

On the Democratic side efforts to sidestep sentiment for Governor Al Smith have been less successful and have resulted in a more spirited fight

Balchen Makes Fine Landing On Belle Island In Company With Fitzmaurice

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

LA MALBAIE, Que., April 24. —Snow began falling here today. There is much speculation at the airport as to whether the flyers on the Bremen will try to fly down the coast to Mitchel Field or will pass this way en route to Lake St. Agnes to take on additional gasoline.

(La Malbaie is 700 miles from Greenely Island.)

GREENELY ISLAND, April 24.—(To I. N. S. via Murray Bay)—Improved weather led Baron von Huenefeld and Capt. Herman Koehl to rush repairs upon the Bremen at top speed, following the arrival of the Ford relief plane with replacement parts. They wanted to get the repairs made before another storm blew up.

The repair work was undertaken by the Baron, Capt. Koehl, Major James E. Fitzmaurice, who came with the spare parts, Bernt Balchen, who volunteered their services.

The famous trans-atlantic plane was marooned here 10 days when the Ford bore down from the west and Balchen brought her down upon

Light Vote Is Evident Here

Primary Vote Being Cast Today Lightest Of Recent Years

MAY BE RUSH TO POLLS LATER IN DAY

With inclement weather, few contests and a general apathy prevailing among the voters, New Castle seems about to establish a record for light voting today. At noon the election boards were ready to go to sleep, for up until that time the number of votes cast would not have required the services of two members, to say nothing of the five on each board.

Not in years has there been such a seeming lack of interest in a campaign. To add to this the sunshine went blotto about 9 o'clock and a mean drizzling rain took its place. Watchers about the polls were hovered about in shelter corners, voters were scarce and it seemed apparent that few votes would be cast.

If the listlessness continues throughout the day, it is probable that the vote will not go over 6,000, which is less than half of the number registered.

Around the polls there is practically no interest. No group of watchers arguing, no interested voters discussing the election, nothing but an air of quiet that seems out of place.

There may be a change this afternoon but this will only come if the people realize that this is their opportunity to register their vote in the selection of party candidates. Otherwise New Castle will set a record for light voting.

Hickory Heights consolidated school in Hickory township has been closed as a result of an outbreak of scarlet fever. Four cases have developed during the past few days. Two of the pupils were taken ill while in school and it is thought best to close the school as a precautionary measure. BELIEVE MAN IS FINALLY DROWNED

Last Seen When He Dives Into Shenango River At Mill Intake

A man, said by police to be Thomas J. Gordon, aged 25, of 20 North Cedar street, and believed by them to be mentally unbalanced, is missing today, according to the officers, after wrecking the plate glass window of the Rohrer gun shop on Water street early last night, stealing a large .38-caliber army special revolver, engaging in a gun battle with several officers of the police force and finally leaping into the deep waters of the Shenango river at the Carnegie Steel Works intake, where he may have drowned.

Not only members of the police force were in danger last night from the man's gun firing, but many other individuals, including men, women and children.

It is not believed that Gordon intended to commit suicide when he jumped into the rather high waters of the Shenango river at the Carnegie plant intake, but had figured he could swim across the river. He is known to have been a good and powerful swimmer.

Miller On Way To Atlanta To Serve Sentence

Former Alien Property Custodian And Congressman To Serve 18 Months Term

IN JOVIAL MOOD AS TRAIN LEAVES

Declines To Discuss Conviction With Reporters; Must Obey Mandate

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON April 24.—Col. Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, ex-member of congress and overseas World War veteran, was speeding to Atlanta today to begin service of an 18 months' sentence in the federal penitentiary.

Miller passed through Washington last night and is due at the prison this afternoon. He was accompanied on his journey to the prison by Chief U. S. Deputy Marshal Mulligan.

Friends Say Good-Bye.

The former government official stood on the station platform here and chatted with friends who were there to bid him good-bye.

To all appearances he was the same jovial Miller who a few years ago was a prominent and popular figure in the exclusive circles of official, political and social Washington. The fact that prison gates were to close behind him in less than 24 hours did not appear to have shaken his poise in the least. His parting words to one of his friends was a bit of pleasantry about "the next time I see you."

Miller declined to discuss his conviction with newspaper reporters who were on hand except to say that a mandate of the supreme court must be obeyed and there was no reason for him to put off the beginning of his sentence to the last minute of grace allowed by law.

Hoover Forces Expect To Gain Strength Today

Important Primaries In Ohio, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania May Tell Tale

OHIO IS CYNOSURE OF POLITICAL EYES

Believe Hoover's Chances At Convention Will Be Influenced By Vote Today

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 24—Herbert Hoover's chances of obtaining the Republican presidential nomination at Kansas City seven weeks hence will be influenced —perhaps decisively—by the primary elections in three large and important states today, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts.

The results in these three states, involving a bloc of 169 delegates, may furnish the answer to the politicians' constant query: "Can Hoover be stopped?" or, on the other hand, the results may not be decisive at all. They may be indeterminate enough merely to throw a little more light on the Republican pre-convention struggle between Hoover and "the allies," and furnish some additional conversational fuel.

Not Decisive

Generally speaking the practical politicians of Washington feel that today's contests will be important, but not necessarily decisive.

Ohio, the cockpit of so many political struggles, is the cynosure of political eyes. It is there that Hoover elected to stride into the open with his candidacy and give battle against Senator Frank B. Willis, Ohio's favorite son, whose death a few weeks ago has thrown all of the political calculators into confusion. Ohio will afford the clearest insight into Hoover's popular strength despite the death of Willis, because the friends all of the other candidates, Dawes, Lowden, Curtis, Watson, have rallied to the Willis cause, affording a test of Hoover against the field.

Ohio Has 51 Delegates.

The stake in Ohio comprises 51 delegates. The Hoover managers in Washington claim a majority of the delegation will be theirs after today. Some of the more optimistic claim 35 or 36 of the 51, but most observers here consider this latter claim to be extravagant.

Many Ohio editors, whose opinions polled in Washington last week, predicted "about a 50-50 split" in Ohio today. A few thought that Hoover will not get more than 15 of the delegates, which, if borne out, would be a

Nor feel the surge of life anew, that comes with every summer dawn, nor feel the dampness of the sod that stays until the dew is gone. Farm House Is Burned Near New Wilmington

Home Of T. M. Ruehl Burns At Early Hour This Morning; Loss Is Heavy

Mrs. Ruehl Is Transferred To Shenango Valley Hospital In This City

An eight-room house occupied by T. M. Ruehl and family on the farm of R. W. Dicks on the Pulaski-Mercer road about 2 miles northwest of New Wilmington was destroyed by fire early this morning, the family barely escaping with their lives.

Mr. Ruehl was awakened about 5:30 o'clock by commotion made by dogs chasing sheep outside and going out to settle the trouble, discovered that the house was afire and rushed back to save the family. Three of the children were sleeping upstairs and some difficulty was experienced in getting the youngest of sixteen months out. Mrs. Ruehl has been sick in bed for two weeks and was removed to the Shenango Valley hospital from the fire scene.

The house was completely destroyed with all household goods with a loss of about $2,000. It is supposed that the fire was caused by a defective chimney.

Fortunately none of the family were burned and report from the Shenango Valley hospital is that the condition of Mrs. Ruehl is satisfactory, she apparently having recovered from the shock of the fire.

Baby Farm Gets Orders To Close

Seven Babies Die In Past Ten Weeks And Farm Is Ordered To Close

FATAL DISEASE PUZZLES DOCTORS

(International News Service)

BAYONNE, N. J., April 24.—The private baby farm of Mrs. Lillian Augat here was ordered closed today by Dr. William Brooke, Bayonne health officer, following his discovery that seven children taken from the place in the last ten days have died.

All the infants died of one disease, acute inflammation of the intestines, Dr. Brooke said. He announced he had given orders that nine other babies at the farm who are reported seriously ill of the same disease, be restored to their parents.

Disease Puzzles.

Two of the ailing infants are children of Mrs. Augat. She said she believed the disease was brought into her home by Robert Jenkins, aged four, the first baby to die. When their illness became serious, the babies who later died were taken to an isolation hospital.

An autopsy conducted by the Hudson county physician's office, brought no proof that the disease was infectious or contagious. Physicians were puzzled by the prevalence of the disease. Dr. Brooke reported that the baby farm was clean, in good condition, and all that is required by city ordinance.

The infants who died, in addition to the Jenkins child, were Paul Helphal, one year old; John Giauglamo, aged 2½ months; Alfred Williams, five months; Richard Gelkans, one year old; Gloria Grant, eighteen months; and Joseph Kerry, one year old.

Await Fliers

Lake St. Agnes, Que., April 24. — From miles around, hardy trappers trekked here today to await the arrival of the Bremen and the two German fliers who have been marooned with it on ice-bound Greenely Island since the plane ended its epochal thirty-six hour westward flight over the North Atlantic, ten days ago, by burying its nose in the icy surface of the island reservoir. - The fliers hoped to hop off from the island today.

Immediately after the arrival of the Ford relief plane at Greenely Island yesterday, activity began with a vengeance. No sooner had Major James S. Fitzmaurice Bernt Balchen, Ernest Koeppen, the Junkers mechanic, and the newspaperman who made the fourth of the relief party, debarked from the huge plane, that the repair parts for the Bremen were unloaded.

Koeppen then began the work of putting a new propeller on the plane. Then a new undercarriage was fitted to it. Meanwhile, Dr. Louis Cuisinier, who with "Duke" Schiller was the first to reach Greenely from the outside world, marshalled about twenty willing natives for the most difficult task at hand, the moving of the Bremen to the ice of Belle Isle Straits for the take-off.

the months of June, July and August will be the only ones affected. In this manner there will be no disruption of the schedules for the public school children and there will be no daylight savings time schedule during the May and September periods, which have usually been of little value in this section.

The plan that has been adopted for this summer is one that is followed in a number of cities and is one that has been found to be an acceptable compromise in the matter of the daylight savings problem. By eliminating the time change in May and September and confining it to the three summer months of June, July and August, there is daylight saving for those who get a decided advantage from the time change, and it does not inconvenience those who are not so favorably affected, like the maintaining of a schedule during the five months period.

Meets Satisfaction

It is believed that the new plan is one that will be greeted with satisfaction in New Castle, both by those who favor the daylight savings plan and by those who are not so favorably inclined. The great objections to the plan are eliminated, in that the public school sessions for some 12,000 children are not affected, and yet daylight savings for the community during the three months that it actually benefits is retained.

Under the new plan adopted locally clocks in New Castle will be changed on the first Sunday of June this year and will be changed back on the first Sunday of September.

Heads of great industries in New Castle have made a concession in the matter of limiting the observance of daylight saving time to three months in this city that is an important one to them, and it has been made because it is believed to be in the best interest of the community. It is anticipated that the new plan will receive city-wide co-operation and is hoped that observance under this new plan will permanently settle whatever controversy has existed here over the question.

Industries Approve

The following industries of New Castle have agreed to the adoption of the new daylight savings plan this year:

American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, Shenango Works; D. S. Pyle, manager.

Grasselli Chemical Company, Henry E. Rappold, superintendent.

Shenango Pottery Company; James M. Smith, superintendent.

with some uncertainty regarding just where some of the delegate candidates stand in regard to the candidacy of the New York leader.

Joseph F. Guffey, Democratic national committeeman, has claimed 60 of Pennsylvania's 76 votes for Smith. Smith opposition, led by Vance C. McCormick, Harrisburg publisher, discount Guffey's claims. In 1924 the high tide of the McCormick strength for William G. McAdoo was 23 1-2 votes and the anti-Smith wing claims an equal voting possibility at the Houston convention.

In both parties a number of the delegates are pledged to support the popular choice of their respective districts. None of the presidential candidates filed petitions in Pennsylvania, so that no names will appear on the ballot. Popular choice in any district can be evinced only by the names being written into the ballot, never a widely followed practice. The few names that will be written in will be at best only morally binding on the delegate candidates.

Refuse to Make Claims

Backers of the Republican independent candidates for statewide offices today refused to make definite claims. The entire Republican organization is supporting David A. Reed for nomination as United States senator, auditor general Edward Martin for state treasurer, Charles A. Waters for auditor general and William D. Porter for judge of the superior court. The possibility of an upset for any of those places was considered slight about the capitol.

Democratic candidates for the state-wide nominations are unopposed.

Only two of the 36 congressmen are not seeking another term. John M. Morin, Pittsburgh, who had threatened to become a candidate for the United States Senate when Mellon support for his re-election was withdrawn, failed to file. In the Berk-Lehigh district Robert Grey Bushong, the present Republican incumbent, is supporting Abraham H. Rothermel, a Democrat.

In 19 of the districts the present Republican incumbents have no opposition, but in several of the others the contests promise to be spirited. From a point of public interest the fight of Mrs. Gifford Pinchot to defeat Louis T. McFadden, the present congressman from the 15th district, leads. The contest there has been marked by sharp exchanges between the two, both at times indulging in personalities.

District Fights Interesting

Another congressional fight which the capitol watches today with interest is that in Schuylkill between Cyrus M. Palmer, the incumbent, and Former Congressman George F. Brumm. Palmer is backed by Paul W. Houck, chairman of the state workmen's compensation board, while Brumm is aligned with Former State Treasurer Charles A. Snyder. It is a fight for control between Houck and Snyder, not a new thing but one that always attracts statewide attention.

There are Democratic contests in 13 districts, but in four others there are no Democratic candidates.

Miss Agnes Hart Wilson, daughter of William B. Wilson, who is now contesting the W. S. Vare seat in the United States Senate, is a candidate for Congress from the 16th district. She is opposing the present congressman, Edgar R. Kiess.

Contests for the state Senate and House in a number of districts have been hardfought and in those sections completely overshadow the state ticket. Few, however, have attracted state-wide attention or will be considered other than fights for supremacy between local leaders.

fairly decisive defeat for the cabinet candidate in Ohio considering the split in the party, and the thoroughgoing way in which the Hoover forces have invaded the state.

Pennsylvania's huge bloc of 79 delegates will go uninstructed and under the control of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, who has never yet committed himself on the Hoover candidacy. The Hoover managers claim Hoover will ultimately get the big majority of this delegation, but conceded that Mellon will control it. And Mellon has nothing to say about the Hoover candidacy. Some of the Mellon lieutenants, such as Gov. Fisher and Under Secretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills, are openly for Hoover, but the deciding vote will be Mellon's."

Massachusetts will be regarded significantly if for no other reason than it is the home state of President Coolidge. Here the possibility of the president's candidacy intrudes itself as in no other state, for persistent Coolidge backers have insisted that the Bay state send a delegation to Kansas City to insist upon drafting the president for another term only a few days ago, Mr. Coolidge had to write a letter to Massachusetts appealing to his supporters not to write in his name in today's balloting. It is probable, however, that a good many will not heed his appeal.

Republican Fireworks.

Gov. Alvan T. Fuller is openly for Hoover and in favor of an instructed delegation to Kansas City. On the other hand, ex-Senator William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, and President Coolidge's political mentor in 1924, is insistent that Massachusetts go uninstructed and unhampered by commitment.

It is the Republicans who will furnish all the fireworks in today's contests.

While the Republicans are electing 169 delegates to Kansas City, the Democrats are electing 160 delegates to the Houston convention, but there is scarcely a Democratic contest worthy of national recognition.

By common consent, Ohio's 48 Democratic delegates will go to Houston committed to a favorite son, ex-Senator Atlee Pomerene. Where they will go after that is a debated question, but Smith probably will get most of them, it is believed. In Massachusetts, the Democrats are so thoroughly committed to the Smith candidacy that he is conceded all the 36 delegates.

Only in Pennsylvania is there a semblance of a Democratic fight. The anti-Smith forces there have organized under the banner of Vance McCormick, campaign manager for Woodrow Wilson in 1916, and he may save a bloc of Pennsylvania's delegates from going to the New York governor.

chairman of the evening and performed in his usual interesting manner.

The class of candidates for membership were obligated by Commander Thompson of the post after which the meeting was turned over to Attorney Muse.

The program was interspersed with addresses by the special guests already mentioned and others and fine musical selections by a trio consisting of Frank Concilla, Alvin Kane and Paul Smith.

Robert Woodside, of Pittsburgh, past commander-in-chief, spoke on matters of legislation, especially that relating to soldiers and told of what a powerful influence the veterans of all wars could exert in matters of legislation, if they so desired.

State Commander Speaks

He said that the World War veterans were beginning to realize that it was for their own benefit to be in some veteran organization and the result has been especially beneficial to the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Past Commander-in-Chief Fred Stover of Butler, confined his remarks to the national home of the Veterans of Foreign Wars for widows and orphans of members. The home is located in Michigan and is fast becoming one of the outstanding places of its kind in this country.

One of the outstanding features of the evening was the address of Herbert S. Pears, manager of the Scottish Rite Cathedral, on the history of the American Flag.

His remarks were thoroughly appreciated by those present and he showed a rare and intimate knowledge of the history of the flag. Starting from its inception in Philadelphia, he carried its history on up to the present time. In concluding, he stated that it was a privilege, indeed, to live in a country under such a flag.

Judge R. L. Hildebrand expressed his appreciation of being able to be present and of the ideals and aims of the Veterans of the Foreign Wars.

Fred L. Rentz spoke on the benefits to be derived by the veterans of all wars in organization. His remarks were timely and to the point and appreciated.

The program of the evening completed, a social time was enjoyed during which refreshments were served in abundance by the committee in charge.

A concluding feature of the evening was the awarding to J. I. McIntyre of 712 Blaine street, of the radio set given away by the post.

MACHINES AND MEN

"LESS than 5 per cent of all accidents can be traced to equipment failure," says a physician who takes care of transportation injuries.

It is the human equipment rather than the machine that makes trouble. Human acts and failures are responsible for the great majority of accidents.

What it amounts to is that we have improved our machinery more than our own brains. The machine surpasses the machanist. Having created all this elaborate mechanical system, we have to make it fool-proof, so it will automatically protect itself from us, and us from it.

That's a big task, which we can handle better in the factory than on the highway.

ACCUSING THE PRIMARY

POLITICAL speakers are laying particular stress upon the creeping paralysis of the body politic which is responsible for the apparently increasing disinclination of the American people to perform their duty as citizens through the exercise of the right of suffrage.

Several politicians have intimated very broadly the belief that the primary system of choosing candidates is responsible in a great measure for the apathetic state of the electorate; but they do not wish to be understood as arguing against the popular primary.

The primary system had become quite general by 1910 and 1912, at which time about two-thirds of the eligible vote was being cast. Since that time the percentage has fallen to fifty per cent or a little less. It is evident the popular primary has not solved the problem of civic indifference.

The prediction was repeatedly made during the long campaign to obtain equal suffrage for women that this extension of the franchise would stimulate interest in politics. Experience has shown that women are not more conscientious than men in going to the polls.

Because the popular primary and women's suffrage have been accompanied by a slump in the average percentage of votes cast does not fasten upon them responsibility for this loss of civic consciousness. With or without women voters and the direct primary there would be more voting were there more real issues.

AIRPLANE CROSSES THE POLAR ICE CAP

THE AIRPLANE crossing of the Polar ice cap from Alaska to Spitzbergen by Captain George H. Wilkins and his veteran companion, Ben Eielson, was an amazing and epochal performance from any point of view. There has been nothing like it in the annals of aviation. The achievement clinches Wilkin's contention that the airplane was the most suitable medium for Arctic exploration. The flight has been of the utmost scientific value.

Amundsen, Ellsworth and their companions flew from Spitzbergen toward the North Pole in two airplanes, were forced down and made a thrilling escape on the one plane which remained serviceable. Byrd and Bennett went North with a crew of volunteers and with seeming ease took off for the Pole, flew around it and were back within a few hours.

The Amundsen-Ellsworth expedition, with its personnel transferred to a dirigible balloon, next flew to the Pole from Spitzbergen and continued on to Alaska.

During all that time Wilkins was struggling against a heartbreaking defeat of his efforts at exploration with Point Barrow the northernmost tip of Alaska, as a base. This was his third expedition.

The first was almost a complete failure, though a brief flight over the Arctic Ocean bit a sizable piece out of the unexplored area. The second was marked by an air cruise which charted an immense area of the ice cap. Wilkins and Eielson brought their plane down and landed on the ice to make soundings which would determine the ocean depth. They found it was more than three miles. They made a second landing for scientific reasons. On the third landing they crashed and were forced to abandon the machine, fashion parts of it into a sled and "mush" their way out—a harrowing experience.

Wilkin's work has been of extraordinary value to world scientists for many years and it is strange that the public generally has passed him by for more picturesque heroes. He is an Australian. Photography led him to a career of adventure says the Philadelphia Inquirer. His first experience in the Arctic was with Stefansson in 1915. He came back to fight in the British Army during the World War and won conspicuous honors for bravery. The war gave him training in aviation and he was navigator of one of the planes which made the London-Australia flight in 1919. Few in this country will remember his ensuing exploration of tropical Australia. Later he was second in command of Sir Ernest Shackleton's last Antarctic expedition. For the past three years most of Wilkin's fellow explorers have been inclined to scoff at his efforts in the North.

They could honor him for his courage and determination, but could not understand his adherence to airplanes as a conveyance and to Point Barrow as a base. His faith has been vindicated and he stands today among the greatest of living explorers.

Money talks, but not as much as man talks money.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 6:48. Sun rises tomorrow 5:09.

An army man makes the statement that the future of long distance transportation rests with the dirigible instead of with the airplane. The balloon does look a bit safer to us, at least from the ground. Those who want speed, however, will prefer the plane.

There are still men who believe that honking will relieve a traffic jam.

Baron von Huenefeld, one of the heroic German Atlantic flyers, is 40 years old and a bachelor. His mother fears that he will never marry because he is too absorbed in poetry and flying. He must be sort of a mother's boy, according to her, but we cannot put flying and poetry together to our own satisfaction.

America is a thinking country. It thinks all week in an effort to select some place to go on Sunday.

When they hang a bandit in Mexico they try to hang him alongside the road near where he committed his crime. In spite of this drastic treatment of bandits in that country, bandits are increasing faster than the active army there can shoot or hang them. Bandits grow better in Mexico than anything else, except perhaps likker.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

The old negro preacher was introducing a white preacher. The white preacher had offered to preach a sermon for the colored brother, and, in introducing the white preacher the old negro could not find enough adjectives with which to praise the visitor.

"Dis noted preacher," said the old negro to his flock, "is one of de greatest preachers of the age. He knows de unknowable, he kin do de undoable and he can onscrew de unscrutable."

The man who can get the better of his conscience isn't all man.

No mercy should be shown any motorist who runs down a human or even a dumb animal and does not stop to help the injured. Any crook who does that has murder in his black heart and you ought to know by this time what we think of murderers. No poundcake and pie for them if we had our say.

It is rapid communication that causes big news to spring up today and be relegated to the scrap heap tomorrow.

Robert Douglas Henderson came from the peaceful Yukon wilderness as far as Vancouver, risked his life on the city streets one day, saw "civilization" for one night and went straight back to the wilds. He felt safer there.

President Coolidge has denied vociferously as he can that he doesn't choose to be a candidate for President again. In spite of this there are people who are still insisting on him running. We have an idea the President knows his vegetables, and when he says no he does not mean yes like so many politicians do and try to get away with it.

Some automobile drivers travel so fast they never arrive.

Forty-two persons were killed and 243 injured by automobiles in Pennsylvania during the week ending April 17. Nineteen were motorists and 24 pedestrians. That is a terrible toll to pay in a great state like ours.

Local trains are terrible where they are still being run. They stop at every jerk water town, but no one gets off but a bag of mail and no one gets on but the morning milk.

A bootlegger at Doylestown, Pa., confessed to killing three people. He killed two of his uncles because he owed them $150 and they demanded payment, and he killed the other chap because he refused to pay him a $127 booze bill. No doubt there are people who think a bird like that should be tenderly kept and fed pate de foi gras and other delicacies.

Some times costly buildings for educational purposes do little to increase the capacity of the brain.

You are going to see many hundreds of fine men and women in New Castle during this week for the Rotary convention. Do your part in trying to make them think New Castle is the greatest place when they leave for their homes. Nice things advertise a city.

A hick town is a place where drug store loafers, who hear you ask a married woman to have a soda with you, think you're drinking again.

Says the New Yorker, speaking of flood control: "Let the district that furnishes the water furnish the money." How would New York like the slogan: "Let the states that produce the wealth bank it at home."

Most of us do not care how many calories there are in a hunk of apple pie if they are fresh.

TOO GREAT A RISK

Life Insurance Agent—"One moment, sir, before I fill in your application. What make of car do you drive?"

Client—"I don't drive any—I hate them."

Life Insurance Agent—"Sorry, but our company no longer insures pedestrians."

We have noticed that some of the birds who high hat their fellow humans at home most always travel in upper berths when they leave home, if they ever do, because it's cheaper.

We heard a young couple scrapping the other day and in our most kindly way we suggested to them not to quarrel as they would soon be married and then they could scrap all the time.

Have you started making your garden yet? If you are thinking of making one this year—and you surely should—now is the time to stop thinking about it but get busy.

If New Castle gets all the airports and airships we hear about being here no doubt the railroads will take off quite a few more trains on account of people using other means of transportation.

When We Think of Others.

An old man who had met life serenely and tranquilly for more than 80 years was asked the secret for his cheerfulness. He answered in four words: "Thinking of other folks."

"You can't travel very far in this world," he explained, "without finding that your path is all tangled up with other folks' paths. Some people think that if they can only travel their paths without getting hurt themselves, they're going to be happy.

"But there's more to it than that. When you've learned to dodge a collision, not because you're afraid of getting hurt yourself, but because you're afraid of hurting the other fellow, you're getting near to happiness. But when you arrive at a point where it's a genuine pleasure never to cause grief to another living soul you're still closer. In other words, when you get so far that it's a joy to you just to make others happy, you're about there yourself."

Have you ever licked up a scuttle of sauer kraut juice? Neither have we.

Everything seems to come at once for us this week. On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week the American Newspaper Publishers Association meets in New York. We missed a big banquet by not being in New York last night and will miss one every night this week to say nothing of the luncheons at noon and the shows at night. In addition the Atlantic flyers will be in New York during the week. We are going to stay at home to help entertain the Rotarians who will visit New Castle this week. We will be acquainted with most of them and we will be glad to see them. We have not missed a meeting of the American Newspaper Publishers Association for years. And by the way we will miss it more than anyone will miss us there. So Wham de doodle, de doodle wham!

Prize fighters hire their fighting partners. Others marry them.

Old lady—But why do you drink the stuff?

Tramp—Ter git up me courage to go around an' beg, mum.

We noticed an item where a lady in Pennsylvania sued some one for ten thousand dollars damages for injuries she received in an auto accident and after the jury had been out twenty-five hours it gave her a verdict of one dollar. We are betting that her opinion of juries would not look well in print. It is easier some times to work for money than trying to get a jury to give it.

Scientists say this world is over fourteen hundred millions of years old. We will not even ask them to prove it.

In olden times when a man lost his right arm in battle he was so incapacitated that he had to have a servant accompany him to take the place of the lost hand. This originated the saying: "He's my right-hand man". Heels were put on shoes to prevent a horseman's foot slipping in the stirrup. Buttons on the coat cuff date back to Frederick the Great, who put sharp buttons there to stop soldiers using their cuffs as handkerchiefs. The wedding ring originally symbolized a chain.

High Prices Little Sabine.
Can't Convict $1,000,000.
15,000,000 Years Apart.
Rome's Birthday.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

A small bust of a little girl made by Houdon, the child's father, used to stand in Judge Gary's small room, off the hall, in his Fifth avenue house. It lived there with some furniture covered with Aubusson tapestry, for which Gary paid a fortune to Alavoine.

On Saturday the little Houdon girl sold at auction for $245,000. Prices paid in America depend not on value, but on the ease with which $245,000 can be acquired.

Houdon's little girl was named Sabine, in honor, presumably, of ladies carried away by Roman soldiers. Now little Sabine is carried away by American dollars.

Mr. Nye, chairman of the old committee investigating bribery, says following Mr. Sinclair's acquittal: "You can't convict a million dollars in this country."

It needs no ghost come from the grave to tell you that power creates the laws and is above them. Power, just now, is organized money.

However, every man is bound to recognize a legal decision as final, and putting aside generalizations about millionaires, to remember that Mr. Sinclair is acquitted by a jury, convinced that no evidence was presented sufficient to convict.

The Rev. Dr. Straton wants to argue evolution with Mr. Osborn, head of the Museum of Natural history. Mr. Osborn, believes that man developed on earth, like other animals, through millions of years of evolution.

Dr. Straton says all living things, also the earth, sun, moon, stars, comets, clouds, oceans, etc., were created in one week, by the will and power of God. He had existed from all eternity, when He decided about six thousand years ago, to create this earth, with man in His image, sun, moon, stars, etc., to light the earth for man.

Dr. Straton says man was made from red earth in a few minutes. He looked lonesome, in Eden, so a deep sleep was put upon him, one of his ribs removed, the first surgical operation on record, and Eve was made from that rib.

For centuries clergymen taught that men had one more rib on one side than the other. Somebody counted the ribs of 1,200 male skeletons, and the odd rib theory was dropped.

The clergyman and scientists, debating, would find it hard to agree on any starting point. Mr. Osborn says our pithecanthropoid, or monkey-man ancestors left their life in trees, about 15,000,000 years ago, and started life in the open. To that the Rev. Dr. Straton could only reply, "You're a liar." And add, "See what is written in this Book of Genesis." You could not call that a "debate."

On Saturday Rome celebrated its two thousand six hundred and eighty-first birthday. And Rome today is as energetic, powerful and intensely earnest as at any time in the past 2,681 years.

Marvelous are the Italian people with their tireless leader, Mussolini. For more than 25 centuries they have contributed great men to the world, some among them greatest in the world.

Mussolini celebrates this happy birthday by inaugurating great public works.

One of his birthday presents to the great city will be the finest airport in the world.

This country, 2,529 years younger than Rome, and 10 times as rich as Italy, has two of its greatest cities, New York on the Atlantic, and Los Angeles on the Pacific, with no airport worthy of mention. We ought to find a Mussolini.

The small monoplane that carried Capt. Wilkins over the North Pole weights only 1,650 pounds, goes 135 miles an hour, and was created by Allen Longfeed. The load carried weighed much as the plane.

Similar powerful little machines will soon be the pride of many young fliers.

Capt. Wilkins deserved success. He smashed five planes in previous efforts to conquer the pole. Australia, his fatherland, offered him the job of air minister, but he prefers work more dangerous. He was a newspaperman in the Balkan War, an aviator in the World War and went with Shackleton on the Antarctic expedition that cost Shackleton his life.

George Bernard Shaw offers socialism as a remedy for war, poverty, disease, marriage troubles, drunkenness and other social evils. His "The Intelligent Woman's Guide to Socialism and Capitalism," tells about it.

Socialism, Shaw brand, would facilitate divorce. Any married woman could walk out, free as air, if she wanted to. And that, says Shaw, would make marriage permanent and happier. Husbands would live in dread of finding the lady gone, and behave.

There would be no alimony, for that is blackmail, says Shaw.

CREATION.

There is no rest in the universe. Don't think about the earth and the other planets as having been made a long time ago and as being on the way out. The process of change and creation is going on all the time. Millikan, great California scientist, believes the earth is going through an endless cycle of evolution. He believes the elements which make up 25 per cent of the material of the earth are constantly created in the universe and shot with terrific speed into the body of this planet.

It's an inspiring thought when we realize that there is no limit to anything in man or the universe. We are capable of endless development. Creation and evolution are not processes that are over and done with. They go on all the time.

TOO MUCH HELP.

The Russian government proposes a compudsory social insurance system, with premiums amounting to $500,000,000 annually which would provide for unemployment, sickness, death, old age, hospital and sanitarium care, and for bonuses for mothers until nearly a year after childbirth.

This will sound comforting and attractive to the masses in Russia—as it would elsewhere. The fact is that giving people something for nothing weakens will, ambition and character. Wipe out the streak of independence in the normal human being and he isn't worth keeping. Governments which undertake to carry too many burdens will have a weak citizenship.

THE ORGANIZED CHURCH

Throwing stones at the church, picking at its flaws, showing up its inconsistencies and otherwise baiting it seems to be the favorite indoor sport of the newspaper writers.

One would gather that the organized church is a moribund and altogether retroactive institution and that the sooner we get rid of it the sooner we can all merrily go on our way rejoicing, get drunk when we please, get married and divorced at will. You would infer that it would be a great day for the human race when at last the church shall have been abolished.

We are still a long way, however, from getting rid of the church. Figures were published the other day stating how much money was voluntarily given to the church. I do not recall them as I have no head for statistics, but it was away up in the millions. This money was not collected by tax collectors, nor extorted from the people by force, but enough of it was voluntarily laid at the doors of this institution to finance a good-sized nation.

All of it goes to prove that the church is still very close to the hearts of the common people.

Fred B. Smith, one of the greatest organizers of our time, in an address the other day told of the three things the church stands for. No matter what its shortcomings or inconsistencies, it stands like a wall for these three things, and in them interprets the conscience of the people.

First, the church stands for economic justice. So long as a little child is overworked or a woman defrauded or a laboring man oppressed, so long will the church's voice be heard.

Some people think the church has no business meddling with economics. Most people who think that are doing something they shouldn't. Mr. Smith said that whenever a man approached him and told him to stick to preaching the pure gospel and not to meddle with business or politics, he wondered what kind of dirty work the man was up to.

In the second place, the organized church stands squarely against the sale of alcoholic beverages.

So long as there is one place left

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

SOMETHING TO EAT.

There are two articles of food calculated to tickle the palates of epicures which may be obtained in San Francisco, of better quality than in any other port of the world.—Hard Shell Sea Crabs and Jumbo Frogs.

An Eastern gentleman upon his first visit to San Francisco seated himself with his friends about a luncheon table in the Palace Hotel. He asked one of those present to order for him something to eat which was different and which could be had at that Pacific Port of better quality than anywhere else. His friends told the waiter to bring half a "cracked crab." "Oh! but you know I am hungry," said the visitor, "better make it a whole crab." "All right, Waiter," said the other, "bring him the biggest crab the chef can find." The waiter understood and in time returned with His Majesty, the Crab, seemingly intact, so cleverly had the czar of the kitchen rearranged the cracked pieces, and lying on the largest platter obtainable. It was a whale of a crab—big enough to feed all present. The guest did full justice to it, at that, and so keen was his appetite that, aided by some of the others, a considerable part of that crab was devoured. Good as it was he could not get away with it all.

The Jumbo Frog has a "saddle" which contains as much white meat as would be found on a five-pound chicken. There are people about San Francisco who maintain small lakes and swamps in which to breed and raise these giant frogs. And there is no finer eating than one of these frogs.

Now the San Francisco Livestock Export Company have begun exporting these frogs to the Orient. The live frogs are packed in moss-filled crates, and cooled to low temperatures in a refrigerator. The frogs think it is winter and slumber peacefully until they warm up again in Japan.

Bullfrogs cannot be put to sleep, but must be fed on shipboard. When landed safely in Japan, they bring about $2.50 apiece. There is a growing demand for these frogs in Japan. They are bred in rice paddies which abound in Nippon. About 300 breeding Jumbo Frogs were recently shipped from San Francisco to Kobe.

Never forget when in the City of the Golden Gate to eat a cracked crab and a Jumbo Frog.

AT PINEHURST

Oh, to be at Pinehurst,
When spring is in the air,
And all the mutts and all the nuts
Of golf are gathered there.
'Tis good to go to Boston,
'Tis sweet to stop at Rye,
But I would go to Pinehurst
Where all the golf balls fly.

The governors and statesmen
Stand waiting on the tee,
The early ball has prior call
Though kings behind may be.
And yonder in the bunker
With curses in his throat
Is presidential timber
And a diplomat of note.

The air is sweet at Pinehurst,
The sky's a lovely blue,
But where you walk, the people talk
Of swing and follow through.
The preacher is a golfer,
God's blessing he invokes,
But the richest men at Pinehurst
Are beggars wanting strokes.

And here I am at Pinehurst,
For spring is in the air,
As Shakespeare said the addled head
Is little noticed there.
For though my game be faulty
And erring is my pitch,
I'm giving strokes to beggars
And succoring the rich.

GETTING THERE AND BACK.

This proposal to build an intercontinental highway through the heart of America, wide enough to serve for emergency landings for airplanes, interests me tremendously. It is one of those practical ideas that needs just a good advertising to make it popular.

There is a mid-continent north-south highway now extending from Winnipeg to somewhere in Texas I believe. Perhaps it extends on into Mexico a little. No matter. It is a thing that has taken many years of the labor and worry and income of a comparatively few public-spirited individuals. And it is now just good enough to serve as a sort of preliminary marker for a real international super-highway such as these Americas must have before they can become real neighbors.

Such a north-bound highway would serve the ordinary purposes of travel and commerce. It would carry tourists and trucks in any reasonable quantity. It would serve as a trail for aviators to follow. It would be broad [illegible] future are going to fly through the air instead of poking along the coasts in the water. Every city in South America will be many days nearer to Washington or Chicago by air with such a route available than they are by water.

Regular landing fields for airplanes should be provided along such a highway, more numerously than they are now provided on the New York-San Francisco air mail route. Emergency fields should be scattered along as they are on all mail routes only more frequently. And the highway should be plenty wide enough to permit an airplane to alight on it almost anywhere to avoid a crash.

This road would run through prairie country along much of its length. Landing fields could be provided without great expense. There are few large cities along the route—at present. There will be many such cities within another century.

Two Perish In Brooklyn Fire

Child Burns To Death, Man Meets Death In Leap From Burning Home

SEVEN REPORTED SERIOUSLY INJURED

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 24.—Two persons were killed and seven were seriously injured early today in a fire which destroyed a four-story frame tenement building in Brooklyn.

Angele Barbera, 5, was burned to death, and Anna Stalona, 22, died of a fractured skull and internal injuries after being impaled on an iron picket fence at the bottom of a four-story jump. At least three of the injured were not expected to survive, physicians said. Firemen rescued more than twenty others by means of ladders.

The fire started on the second floor, got into a vent, and mushroomed thru the building.

Nearly all of the inmates were overcome by smoke. The entire staff of St. Catherine's hospital, nearby, carried the injured from the burning building. A priest gave the last rites of the church to the dying.

Three separate investigations as to the cause of the fire were promptly started by the police, the fire marshal, and the district attorney's office.

Don't Marry If—

A Worshipper Of Beauty? Then Remain Single, Advises England's "Great Lover", Wed Three Times

James St. Clair-Erskine Fifth Earl of Rosslyn

By CLARK KINNAIRD
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News

NEW YORK, April 24.—England's great lover, who has been married three times, believes a man who worships beauty should never marry.

"Profound admiration of beauty is invariably accompanied by love and exploration and intense momentary pleasures," says he. "These natural attributes inevitably lead a man into successive and thoroughly delightful love affairs; then malign gossipers call him Don Juan and look upon him with disfavor."

James Francis Harry St. Clair-Erskine, fifth Earl of Rosslyn, is in New York, freely disseminating his memoirs of his life. Meanwhile his sisters, the Dowager Duchess of Sutherland and the Countess of Warwick, are endeavoring to have a book of his, "My Gamble With Life," suppressed because it contains what they believe to be injudicious disclosures regarding family affairs. The late Countess of Westmoreland also was a sister of the Earl's.

A Checkered Career

In his checkered career the Earl has been in the British army twice; served in the House of Lords; written about the Boer war as a correspondent, narrowly escaping execution while a prisoner; acted in both England and the United States; served in minor government offices; maintained a racing stable that included the famous "Buccaneer"; operated collieries; traveled everywhere, acquired the unwelcome titles, "Modern Don Juan," and "the Lordly Rake" (not libelous, he uses the term himself), and gambled away at least a million pounds ($5,000,000).

He admits that his reputation as a man who broke the bank at Monte Carlo four times, a reputation that inspired the song, "The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo," is undeserved. To me he said, "There is no system in the world that can break the bank."

The Earl has been married three times. He professes himself very happy with his third wife, who he led to the altar in 1908. She is not accompanying him on his American visit.

The Earl refuses to emulate the conventional British visitor and verbally glorify American women.

Goes To Source Of Stomach And Kidney Trouble

Ellwood City Man Had Great Change In Health After He Got Konjola.

MR. FRANK LYONS
Seavy Photo

"A few weeks ago I never thought I would be making this statement but Konjola has so completely ended my stomach and kidney trouble that I want to indorse such a medicine to others", said Mr. Frank Lyons, Fountain Avenue Extension, Ellwood City (near New Castle) in a recent report he gave to the Konjola Man at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, this city, where he is daily explaining the merits of this new medical compound.

"Ever since I realized my health was going down hill I tried to find a remedy that would build up my system and end those awful miseries I suffered", continued Mr. Lyons, "but nothing ever helped me until I started taking Konjola.

"My whole system was dreadfully rundown. Finally I was forced to stop working because of the awful miseries I suffered from my kidneys. Every night I would have to rise three and four times because of weakness. All during the day my back ached so much that it was almost impossible for me to bend over. I would have awful dizzy spells when it was necessary for me to hold onto something to keep from falling. Quite often I would have a pain in my left side that was so bad I would double up. Just recently my hand was affected with rheumatism and I could hardly use it. My nerves were all unstrung and I was always worrying about my health. I had no pep or energy and this made every day a drudgery to me.

"I was told to give Konjola a trial and when I made inquiry about this medicine, I found everybody recommending it highly and that it relieved the suffering of many people who were never benefited before. This gave me confidence in Konjola. I started to take it regularly as directed and within a week's time, I noticed a new feeling of life over my whole system. I began eating heartily and some of the things I had not eaten for a long time digested perfectly and never caused me the least bit of distress afterward. But best of all the trouble from my kidneys began to disappear and soon I was able to sleep through the entire night without rising once. I returned to work because the pains in my back were gone and I did not have those dizzy spells or headaches. Finally the rheumatism in my hand vanished and I was able to use it just as if I never had that ailment. My sleep is sound and restful and I get up in the morning feeling greatly refreshed and full of energy.

"Konjola has been a splendid medicine for me and just what my upset system always needed. A trial convinced me of the merits of this medicine and I am sure it will do the same for other sufferers."

The Konjola Man is at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

BLONDE OR BRUNETTE?

Well here's the answer to the age-old controversy as to whether the brunette is superior to the blonde in any way—and if so, how? Experiments show that brunette women automobile drivers are better drivers than blondes. They are more careful more level headed. Their blonde and red-headed sisters are temperamental excitable, not so good at the wheel.

All of which is only moderately important.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

in the world where alcohol is kept for public sale, the organized church will be heard in protest. In spite of the squirmings of newspaper writers the conscience of the world stands squarely behind the organized church in opposition to the saloon.

The organized church is opposed to war. Much quibbling is done by those who seek to reconcile what Bernard Shaw calls the vanity of patriotism with Christ's love for humanity, but the church is voicing its protest against the most damnable insitution that has ever cursed humanity—war!

It may take a good while, but the time is sure to come when these three evil things—economic injustice, the public sale of liquor and the institution of war—will give way before the advancing conscience of civilization, represented in the organized church.

Broadcasting Will Undergo Revamping To Meet New Laws

Federal Radio Commission Active In Revamping Of Radic Situation

Plan To Attain Goal Of Perfected Radio Service In Future

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Initial steps looking to revamping the broadcasting situation to meet the requirements of the new law were taken Monday by the federal radio commission.

The chief problem was the drafting of a plan for equal distribution of radio facilities throughout the country.

Individual merits of stations were not discussed. Stations to be selected to fill the broadcasting structure will not be considered until the actual allocation program is agreed upon.

A specific plan to attain the goal of improved radio service "by natural evolution rather than radical sweeping changes' was presented to the commission by joint representatives of the National Association of Broadcasters, Radio Manufacturers association and the Federated Radio Trades association all of New York.

Too Many Stations.

Holding that there are too many stations on the air these organizations advocated eventual reduction to 550 stations, a cut of 150.

"The associations believe that the purpose of any reallocation of broadcasting licenses is the establishment of condition in which the maximum number of listeners throughout the nation will have the maximum possible choice of broadcasting programs with the maximum signal strength," Frank D. Scott representing these organizations declared.

The new allocations should be made so as to bring about at the outset as small a change in existing allocations as is consistent with the ultimate attainment or the listening public of such advantages as are possible within the limits of the law according to Scott.

The associations advocated that licenses of stations should be revoked.

Sentiment apparently exists for the 50 channel plan as advocated by Commissioner O. H. Caldwell. Caldwell pointed out as the fundamental difficulty in allocations the fact that a station ties up its channel for a distance of about 100 times its useful area. A 500-watt station for instance give high grade service from 10 to 20 miles, but causes serious interference on its channel up to 1,000 miles.

Allegheny College To Erect New Dorm

Building To Cost $175,000 Will Be Completed By January, 1929

MEADVILLE, Pa., April 24.—President James A. Beebe of Allegheny college, announced today that through the generosity of Margaret E. Caflisch of Union City, Pa., a new residence hall for freshmen men will be erected at the college during the summer and early autumn.

The building will be known as the Jacob C. Caflisch Memorial hall, and will cost not less than $175,000, exclusive of the site. It will accommodate 125 freshmen and will be located on the west side of North Main street, immediately south of the Phi Gamma Delta house. Plans will be drawn at once and ground will be broken as a part of the commencement program in June. Every effort will be made to have the building ready for occupancy not later than January, 1929.

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

UNHAPPY MR. WHIP-POOR-WILL

A flurry of wings; and kerplunk! Down beside Peter on the bank dropped a bird. The boy jumped. The newcomer, however, paid not a particle of attention—he didn't even say that he was sorry he had scared Peter, but turning toward him, he winked one eye.

"Hello, two legs," said he. "Do you like bats?"

The question was so queer that Peter giggled.

"Well, no; I can't say that I do. But what does that matter to you?"

The bird winked again.

"In other words it is none of my business!" it chirped, in perfect good humor. "Well, suppose it isn't! Tell me why you don't like bats, can't you?"

Peter thought a moment.

"Well I guess I don't like bats because they are such sneaky things. They never make a sound, and then, before you know it, they get in people's hair and tangle it up."

"Stuff and nonsense!" The strange bird seemed quite disgusted. "I do hope you will never again believe anything so foolish. Why on earth should a bat wish to get tangled up in a two-leg's hair, boy? He'd only be taken captive—now wouldn't he? But when you say you don't like the bat because he comes upon you unawares, why, that is a different matter.

"I hate to have any one steal a march on me, too. That is why the birds don't like poor old Whip-poor-will, he never thinks to tell them he is coming, although he doesn't mean to sneak, not he! He is an honorable bird! But before the birds know he is around he is by their side and has almost scared their feathers out!

"Then, too, when he does speak he sounds as if he had lost his last friend. Never glad. Always sad. The birds can't stand the company of one so down-hearted. As if this were not enough to be held against him. Whip-poor-will is a bird of the night. Seldom does he fly until after twilight, and the birds of the day cannot understand his liking for the shadows, either. So, take it altogether, few birds care to be out when they think they are likely to meet him."

"I TAKE A BITE WITH HIM IN THE EVENING BEFORE GOING TO BED

Peter stared at the speaker.

"Are you Whip-poor-will?" asked he. "I can't quite make up my mind. Somehow you look a great deal like him, but your tail is not round."

The bird chuckled.

"Fancy you noticing a thing like that! Of course, my tail isn't round and I am glad of it. I prefer it pointed. He and I both wear white collars, but mine is much wider and my wings are trimmed with a white band. Whip-poor-will has dreadfully short legs and sits lengthwise on a limb, while I flatter myself that I can sit on a branch as well as any bird in these parts. No, sir. I am not Whip-poor-will. But Whip-poor-will and I are very good friends, indeed, and, although I like to do my hunting in the late afternoon, I generally take a bite with him in the evening before going to bed."

The Teaberry Flavor Is Different
It's trite but true that you'll never know how good Chewing Gum can be until you have tried the Teaberry flavor in Clark's Teaberry Gum.
You'll find the Teaberry pink package a real find—Any store.
CLARK'S TEABERRY GUM

10,000 YEARS AGO—

Back to prehistoric days! Back to the days of floods and volcanoes! That is the distance you have to travel to get to the real source of Martin's 100% Pure Varnish. It was then that the formation of the Pure Fossil Gums was started and time only has been able to produce such excellent material, truly the heart of any quality varnish.

Why MARTIN'S 100% PURE VARNISH CONTAINS
PURE FOSSIL GUMS

Pure Fossil Gums are particularly desirable because of the way in which they combine with the pure vegetable oils to make a tough, durable covering for any floor or wood trim surface. Pure Fossil Gums also add a certain elasticity to this varnish that guards against cracking even under the hardest use. Rosin—an inferior, cheaper substitute is used in cheaper adulterated varnishes—which is the reason why they crack and chip and flake so quickly and are so unsatisfactory.

The fact that the formula for Martin's 100% Pure Varnish is printed on every can is your guarantee that you are buying no cheap substitute varnish raw materials. Each shipment of the raw ingredients received is tested for its purity before it is used. All Martin's 100% Pure Varnishes are aged in tanks six full months before being filled in cans for shipment. That should mean a great deal to you. When you think of Varnish—think of Martin's 100% Pure!

Marathon Dancers Continue Grind In Pittsburgh Tourney

Two Couples Leave Contest After Seven And Half Hours Of Dancing

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 24.—Blistered feet and tortured corns were beginning to take their toll today from the 49 couples which responded to the summons of Bossy Gillis, mayor of Newburyport, Mass., and official starter for the world's championship marathon dancing contest here.

The contest opened at 9:15 p. m. last night and slightly less than 11 hours later two couples had decided that they needed a rest more than $1000, the grand prize. The first elimination came at 4:41 a. m. when Guy and Betty Lozito, brother and sister gave it up after seven and a half hours. Three hours later another couple left the floor.

The remaining couples had lost the pep and confidence with which they floated into the dance which ends, to quote Mayor Gillis, when the dancers "flop." They were saving their strength and shuffling along.

Inattention Is One of the Main Causes of Auto Accidents

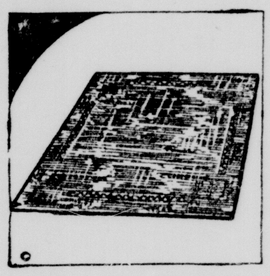

Inattention on the part of motorists continues to be one of the principal causes of auto crashes, points out the National Safety Council. The "one arm" driver, who pays more attention to his charming companion than he does to his steering wheel, gets into trouble every day. The old saying that "there is a time and a place for everything" is especially true when you're behind the wheel. Another pest is the back seat driver who confuses the motorist. When driving a car, keep your mind on your task, your eyes on traffic and your ears open only for warnings. Never let conversation steer you into a mishap. Courting a girl in a car often results in an appearance in court.

Arrest Youngstown Man For Hillsville Robberies

In the arrest of James Jackson, negro, who resided on Cherry street, Youngstown, O., Constable William J. Edwards of Hillsville has cleared up three robberies of considerable importance which have occurred in his district since the first of the year.

Jackson has entered pleas of guilty to the several charges before Justice of the Peace James H. Eakin of Hillsville and a considerable portion of the stolen goods which amounted to considerably over $1,000 has been recovered, according to Edwards.

The accused man is in the county jail after having been taken to the Butler barracks of the state police on Monday by Constable Edwards, where he was photographed and his fingerprints taken.

The robberies cleared up were those at the store of Mike Vanish which occurred January 10 and in which clothing and other articles of value to the amount of $900 were taken and those occurring April 7 at the stores of M. Smith and Joe Delule when the losses sustained were estimated at $225 and $75.

Apprehension of Jackson was the result of some excellent work on the part of Constable Edwards with the assistance of a deputy sheriff in Mahoning county, O.

Last Thursday it was determined that Jackson was operating his car under a stolen license plate. He was arrested on that charge and his home was then searched. Much of the goods stolen in the Hillsville stores were recovered there.

This resulted in his being taken before Squire Eakin Saturday and being charged with the robberies. He entered pleas of guilty to the charges. He is now in the county jail awaiting disposition of his case.

The South Hills baseball team will hold an important practice session at the South Hills grounds on Wednesday night at 6 o'clock sharp. The practice has been called by Manager Dando and Business Manager Frengel. All players wishing to try out for the team are asked to attend the practice.

The Basic Soundness of Public Utility Securities

NO better testimony to the basic soundness of public utility securities can be cited than the great increase in the holdings of such securities by the banks and insurance companies during the last ten years.

Insurance companies now own over 900 millions and the holdings of banks—state, national and private—amount to 1,150 millions. A total of over 2 billion dollars now held by these institutional investors.

The insurance companies and the banks of the country are competent authorities in financial matters. They recognize that safety—the prime asset of the utilities—is assured by the permanent nature of their assets. They perceive the great and growing market for utility services and realize the steady earning power which is assured by the indispensible character of the industries.

It is these basic elements that are influencing careful investors to buy preferred stocks of light and power companies for dependable income investment.

The entertainment at the Hillside will probably be one of the biggest events of the spring social season in New Wilmington. About 300 visiting Rotary Anns are expected to participate as guests at the tea to be served by the local Rotary Anns in the parlor, reading room, and music room of the Hillside dormitory, from 2:30 to 4:30 Thursday afternoon.

The local committee of women who are cooperating with Mrs. W. C. Wallace of the New Castle club to carry out the gigantic social event is composed of Mrs. Charles Smyser, Mrs. Elmer Russell, and Mrs. A. A. McDonald.

The ladies who will preside at the tea table from 2:30 to 3:30 Thursday are: Mrs. W. W. Campbell, Mrs. Howell T. Getty, Mrs. T. R. Jones, and Mrs. William McLaughry. The assistants will include: Mrs. W. J. Conway, Mrs. Fred Taylor, Mrs. Fillmore Campbell, Mrs. Stewart Price, Mrs. J. A. Thorn, Mrs. James Pitzer, and Mrs. Frank McClure.

Mrs. Trevor O. Hogue, Mrs. Fred Williamson, Mrs. Ralph Neale, and Mrs. William McElwee will preside at the tea table from 3:30 to 4:30. The assistants at the tea table at this time will be: Mrs. Elmer Sharp, Mrs. Wallace Pitzer, Mrs. S. E. Calhoun, Mrs. Ralph Jordon, Mrs. R. Johnson, Mrs. R. Y. Walker, Mrs. J. D. Lawther, and Mrs. R. M. Newton.

In addition to the above named ladies several college girls who are daughters of Rotarians will assist at the entertainment.

The following Westminster girls will be the college representatives assisting to entertain the Convention Rotary-Anns: Miss Phyllis Coley, Miss Margaret McFate, Miss Adele Rose, Miss Carol Clark, Miss Catherine McClure, Miss Mary Sowerby, Miss Norah French, Miss Elizabeth Weingartner, Miss Helen Walker, Miss Theda Hartwell, Miss Muriel Irons, Miss Margaret Adams, Miss Margaret Patterson, Miss Gladys Robinson and Miss Eleanor Hunter.

One of the best talks ever presented in the college town was given here Sunday morning in the United Presbyterian church by Congressman M. Clyde Kelly. In asking for Christian Citizenship, Mr. Kelly summoned the people to become Americans in the full sense of the word; to support the laws of the country, and to vote.

Returning here recently, George Clark, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Clark is spending his vacation in his New Wilmington home. Mr. Clark is a student in George Washington University.

Well! whiter than ever

with this safe hard-water soap

IT'S marvelous what a change of laundry soap can do. I'm mighty glad my grocer got me to try Rinso in my washer.

Why, Rinso actually loosens the dirt and stains like magic! The most soiled things come from the washer bright and gleaming. I don't even bother about boiling any more—Rinso cleans and whitens so wonderfully without boiling.

And it's just great the way this granulated hard-water soap whips into thick, creamy suds. Our water here is very hard, but Rinso makes it soft and sudsy all through.

Rinso is all I use on washday—no bar soaps, chips or water softeners. It does such a good job, and it is so easy on the clothes—no wonder the makers of 32 leading washing machines recommend it.

My neighbor tells me it's great for tub washing too. Soaks out the dirt, and saves her hands, she says.

STEWART FREES SELF OF CHARGE BEFORE SENATE

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Col. Robert W. Stewart, "fourth partner" in the Continental Company's slush fund, freed himself of prosecution by the Senate on a contempt charge by his testimony today, Senator Walsh (D) of Montana announced this afternoon.

Stewart, however, will not escape prosecution for contempt in the federal courts, Walsh added.

"The Senate will be satisfied with Mr. Stewart's testimony today," said Walsh. "But that has nothing to do with the criminal contempt case now pending against him in the District of Columbia courts.

"Mr. Stewart committed a crime by defying the Senate. His testimony today will have no effect on his prosecution for that crime.

It will be up to the district attorney in the District of Columbia to prosecute Stewart for "perjury", Walsh said, "if such a prosecution is justified".

Walsh added that Stewart's testimony probably would result in dismissal of his "arrest" proceedings. Stewart, arrested in February by the Senate, secured his freedom on a writ of habeas corpus, which was finally denied, but which he appealed to a higher court.

Wilkins Must Wait For Warm Weather

Likely To Remain At Spitzbergen Until Ice Breaks Up

(International News Service)

OSLO, Norway, April 24.—While the world lauds their remarkable flight over the "top o' the world", Captain George H. Wilkins and Carl Ben Eielson seem doomed today to remain at Green Harbor, Spitzbergen, until warm weather sets in.

In landing on the ice at Green Harbor after the short hop from Doedmansoeira (Dead 'Man's Island), where for five days they were isolated from the world by a snowstorm of terrific proportions, the fliers' Lockheed-Vega Monoplane was slightly damaged.

The damage to their plane is not believed to have been serious but reports from Green Harbor indicate that the daring airmen were unable to make repairs with the materials at their disposal. It is also believed that the fliers could not procure sufficient fuel for the hop to this city, even if they could repair the plane.

Spitzbergen, the ice-bound isle, which is farther north than any other in Europe, cannot be reached by shipping. It is not likely that any craft will be able to negotiate the icy seas surrounding it until the middle of May. The fliers, therefore, will probably have to wait until then to get back to civilization.

Misses Casting Of Ballot First Time In Fifty-Two Years

(International News Service)

WEST CHESTER, Pa., April 24.—Congressman Thomas G. Butler missed voting in the 7th precinct here for the first time in 52 years today when an attack of indigestion prevented him from leaving Washington. The veteran congressman insisted on returning to cast his ballot but his physicians finally won the argument deciding that because of his advanced age the risk was too great. Butler was first elected in 1896 and has served 32 years successively. He is unopposed for the nomination.

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 24.—The new budget introduced in the House of Commons today by Chancellor of the Exchequer Winston Churchill strikes a hard blow at American and other foreign oil companies doing business in Great Britain. The Chancellor announced that, beginning tomorrow, a tax of eight cents per gallon will be imposed upon imported gasoline and light oils, exclusive of lubricating oils. The treasury estimates that the new gasoline tax will produce $87,500,000 revenue in 1929.

Two More Tennis Matches Played Off In Y. W. C. A. Tennis Tourney

Monday evening on the Y. W. floor two more matches of the Y. W. Indoor Tennis Tournament were played off. Ruth Jamison versus Mildred Weisbaker; Harriet Vickery versus Bertha Sypher. The opponents in each match were quite evenly matched with the girls battling through three sets before the winners were determined.

Second set, 6-4, Weisbaker.
Third set, 6-2, Jamison.

Tell Of Plans To Land Convention

New Castle Lions Going To Norristown To Bring Convention Here

The efforts which are being made by the Lions Club to get the 1929 state convention for New Castle were explained to the Lions when they met at noon today in the main dining room of the Elks Home by A. H. Bartlett, a delegate to the 1928 convention which will take place at Norristown, Pa.

Mr. Bartlett explained that many of the prominent manufacturers of the city, through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce, will write letters to each club, inviting them to New Castle. The Chamber of Commerce will also write and mail such a letter, as will John L. Slack, manager of The Castleton. During the convention at Norristown the Chamber of Commerce expects to send out a series of telegrams again inviting the Lions to come to New Castle.

Reporting for the blind committee, B. K. Thacker stated that everything is in readiness for the radio concert which will be held in the First Christian church Saturday evening, April 28, at 10 o'clock. He again invited blind persons of the county and the Lions to attend the concert, which will be broadcast over a chain of 38 stations.

Anthony Marino then told the club some of the history of the automobile and explained many of the details of the gasoline engine.

A letter was read from the Butler Lions Club, inviting the New Castle Lions to be their guests Thursday evening, April 26. It is expected that many members of the local club will go to Butler Thursday evening.

Are You Brushing Teeth Three Times Each Day Asks State Health Head

"Forty-five million tooth brushes are annually used in the United States. This is a large number of brushes indeed, but it is scarcely enough to care for the teeth of one hundred and ten million people. Which is sufficient excuse for a talk on the care of the teeth," said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, Secretary of Health, today.

"With the plans now being completed for Dental Health Week, the celebration of which will be coincident with the Child Health celebration the first week in May, this subject is particularly timely.

"Fortunately the state-wide interest in child welfare will direct the attention of parents to the necessity of proper oral hygiene for the young people. This important prophylactic and preventive measure cannot be over-emphasized. The first and second sets of teeth need regular supervision and daily attention and second much easier for a dentist to fill little holes than big ones, it doesn't take as long, it doesn't cost as much and it doesn't hurt as badly. Moreover, to march the children to the dentist's twice a year is to practice real economy, as it insures the efficient functioning of teeth that otherwise would likely fall down on their job. This is eloquently proved by the fact that seventy per cent of all school children have tooth defects are due usually to faulty diet, on account of home hygiene or the direct neglect of the teeth.

"So much for the children. Now, how about you? Are you, the parent, brushing your teeth three times daily? Are you religiously visiting your dentist twice every year? If, through the disregard of these things, the worst that could happen to you would be false teeth, it would be bad enough. Just ask some person who owns a set if you do not believe this! But there is more possible calamity attributable to neglect than that.

"Here are some of the diseases which may be caused by bad teeth: gastric ulcers, kidney infections, rheumatism, neuritis and heart disease—a rather high penalty to pay for your criminal indifference to dental attention.

"Therefore, be over-solicitous concerning your children's teeth, but in the process don't forget your own. Make Dental Health Week a family celebration for health and life's sake!"

Canada Uses Planes In Development Work

Air Surveys Being Made Of Territories As Yet Not Developed

OTTAWA, Canada, April 24. — In their survey during the past two years, Canadian aviators have traveled distances equal to eight complete flights around the world. In addition to survey work, the Canadian Air Service has been of inestimable value in suppressing forest fires. It has even been used in fighting and "quarantining" various kinds of forest diseases.

Canada's Air Service may be described as a work-horse and the Air Services of other nations as race horses, according to A. M. Narraway, Chief Officer of Canada's Aerial Surveys. Continuing the comparison, Mr. Narraway made the point that Canada's work-horse air service may not attract so much public attention as spectacular flights, but is achieving equally important results.

Canada's air operations have been directed mainly toward surveying the vast areas of land lying just beyond the settled districts of the Dominion. These areas represent immense wealth in minerals, timber, pulpwood, waterpowers and fisheries. By the old method of land survey they could be opened up but slowly, but in the last two years 200,000 square miles of formerly inaccessible territory have been photographed from the air. From these aerial photographs maps are produced which are much more accurate and complete than was possible under the old system.

Development of Canada's hinterland, with its great mineral, water, water-power, forest and other resources is being speeded up by applying aviation to "work-horse" instead of "race horse" activities.

THEN ALL-BRAN SAVED HIM FROM CONSTIPATION

A message for people who use laxatives

Mr. Skiles wrote us a voluntary testimonial after Kellogg's ALL-BRAN had saved him from dreadful constipation. Read his tribute:

July 12, 1927

"For years I have been so constipated. After trying every kind of drug possible, I could only get temporary relief. I became discouraged and gave up hopes, when a friend told me to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. I had read so many testimonials I had no faith. I was of the opinion testimonials were put out by friends. I will not only give you the privilege to use my name, but I will go on the witness stand and testify to my statement. I cannot express words great enough to meet with Kellogg's food." —ARTHUR SKILES, 325 N. Kedzie Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

If constipation is preying upon your health, check it before too late. If you are using habit-forming laxatives, stop it before this harmful practice fastens its grip too tight.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN. A 100% bran cereal—delicious with milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Use in cooking too. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Normal School Becomes College

California State Normal Becomes State Teachers' College With 4-Year Course

(International News Service)

CALIFORNIA, Pa., April 24. — With increased enrollment a certainty, the Southwestern Pennsylvania Normal School at California is expected also to leap ahead academically as a direct result of the elevation of the institution to a college status.

A four-year curriculum and the right to confer degrees has been granted to California. The local school hereafter will be known as California State Teachers' College and will rank along side southwestern Pennsylvania's two other teachers'-training schools, Slippery Rock and Indiana.

A new training school, to be constructed at a cost of $125,000, will be erected this summer, culminating a program of the past few years which has greatly advanced the school's facilities.

California draws its membership from Westmoreland, Washington, Green and Fayette counties. Formerly many students from this section attended Indiana and Slippery Rock because of the inadequacy of California with its short two-year curricula and inability to confer degrees.

Stewart Admits Handling Bonds Of Continental

Stewart Tells Senate Committee He Handled $759,500 Worth Of Bonds

GLAD TO ANSWER ALL QUESTIONS

Chairman Of Indiana Oil Willing To Talk Now That Sinclair Is Free

By WM. K. HUTCHINSON,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Washington, April 24.—Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the Standard Oil of Indiana today told the Senate oil inquiry that he received $759,500 of the Continental Trading company's mysterious $3,080,000 liberty bond "slush fund".

Stewart said he transferred the bonds to a "trust fund" for the Standard Oil of Indiana and the Sinclair crude oil purchasing company. In event of his death, Stewart said, the two companies would share equally in his share of the continental bonds.

His testimony identified Stewart as the missing "fourth partner" in the Continental deal.

Stewart testified that the bonds were turned over to him by Henry Smith Osler, president of the Continental, in 1922 and 1923 at meetings in Chicago and New York. He said he immediately created the "trust fund" and made Roy J. Barnett, a tax expert of his company, the trustee.

Reveals Transaction

On last Saturday, with Harry F. Sinclair acquitted, Stewart said, he revealed the story of the bonds to the board of directors of the Standard Oil of Indiana. The directors decided to turn the bonds over to the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company, he added. This delivery was made through Barnett on Saturday.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh (D) of Montana, first reminded Stewart that the Harry F. Sinclair case was ended. Stewart, when he defied the Senate several weeks ago, said he did so becaues he was to be a witness in the Sinclair case.

"That matter is now disposed of and the committee would like to know if you are willing now to answer the questions asked you?" Walsh inquired.

Stewart said he would not yield his position on the right of the committee to question him but that due to the fact that he had been excused as a witness in the Sinclair case "I will be very glad to answer any questions for you."

Music Contest Details Settled

Indications Immense Crowd Will Go To Grove City Contests

At the General Committee meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Music Association held at Greenville yesterday afternoon, the admission prices for the contest to be held at Grove City on Thursday afternoon and evening of next week were set at 25c for the afternoon sessions and 50c for the evening contests.

The prices were merely intended to cover expenses consequently a large crowd is expected.

The participants will number approximately fifteen hundred.

W. E. Dimcrier in charge of the Erie delegation ordered the Grove City committee to prepare to feed five hundred contestants from Erie alone. Mr. Dimorier stated that the Erie schools had raised sufficient money by concerts to finance the trip. They have charted a special train on the Bessemer and Lake Erie.

The New Castle organizations are endeavoring to raise the necessary funds by a concert at the Franklin School on Friday evening of this week.

It is very important that those who wish to support the New Castle organizations at Grove City on Thursday, May 3rd, get their tickets ordered immediately since New Castle has only until Thursday noon to make reservations. The choruses and orchestras will compete in the afternoon from 12:00 o'clock until 4:15, and the bands will compete at night. If you want to get into these contests order your ticket immediately through the Senior High School office, telephone 630. It is doubtful if you can get tickets later.

Wilson Charges Vare Petition Is Not In Good Faith

"Vare Has No Wish To Ascertain Truth", Wilson Carge Says

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Charges that the petition of Senator-elect William S. Vare of Pennsylvania, for a recount of 1926 Pennsylvania Republican senatorial election ballots in 31 additional counties was not made in good faith were filed with the senate privilege committee today by William B. Wilson, contestant for Vare's seat in the senate. Vare's petition was filed with the committee some time ago but the committee took no action pending a reply to the petition by Wilson.

"The petition of William S. Vare is not filed in good faith or with the wish to ascertain the truth, but solely for the purpose of embarrassing contestant (William B. Wilson) and preventing a due and proper consideration of this contest," the Wilson answer to Vare's petition read, concluding with the petition that Vare's request be denied.

Wilson requested a recount of the ballots in six counties at the beginning of the Vare-Wilson 1926 contest, but the committee agreed that Vare would also have the privilege of asking a further recount if he could give sufficient reason for such a recount.

Coal Executive Tells Ministers About Conditions

Market Conditions Cause Of Shutting Down Mines Says C. G. Lesher

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 24.—Market conditions forced a shut-down of mines which were later reopened on an open shop basis when company officials decided they could not profitably operate under the Jacksonville wage scale, C. G. Lesher, executive vice president of the Pittsburgh Coal company, said today speaking before more than 50 ministers from all parts of Western Pennsylvania attending the coal seminary here.

Coal and iron police were also defended by the speaker, who cited many reasons for the company's action in mine eviction cases.

The seminar is being held under the auspices of the department of social relations of the Congressional Educational society and the Methodist Federation for Social Service, and is attended by coal operators, union officials and others interested in the coal mine controversy.

The operators presented their views today following which a trip was made to coal fields.

Philip Murray, international vice president of the United Mine Workers and John Brophy, chairman of the "Save the Union" committee, have been invited to speak tomorrow.

Deny Report Of Police Moving

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 24.—A reported movement of extra police of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to its property along the West Virginia-Ohio state line was denied here today by C. P. Horgan, superintendent of B. & O. police in the Pittsburgh-Wheeling district.

Horgan said the railroad had only its regular police force there and that officials felt their property was in no danger from disorders growing out of the coal strike.

Horgan declared he had heard nothing of a movement of extra forces of West Virginia state police to the Wheeling section.

It Lifts Your Spirit

By Edna Wallace Hopper

The vigor of a March wind carries you along with a light heart. Spring is approaching and the world seems gay and hopeful.

It's great for your spirit but hard on your skin. Every gust of wind ruthlessly plants tiny particles of dust in your pores, taxes the naturally smooth texture. Your most precious skin is constantly exposed to these harsh effects.

Edna Wallace Hopper as she looks today

But you can erase the inroads upon beauty with a little care and the right help, which I spent years to find.

I call this help my Facial Youth. It is a liquid cleanser which soothes the skin and actually removes the dust and grime which are so destructive. Soap and water merely cleanse the surface, and have a coarsening effect.

Facial Youth does not grow hair. It has a clean, fresh odor. It's a pleasure to use this gently soothing cleanser. I know of nothing which does more to retain youthful firm smoothness of face.

May I urge you, for beauty's sake, to buy a bottle at any toilet counter? The price is 75 cents. Your money back if you are not satisfied.

Plant Memorial Tree At Temple

Tribute Is Paid To Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger Monday Afternoon

FORMAL CEREMONY MARKS DEDICATION

In the assembly room of Temple Israel Monday afternoon, April 23, there was a service held that will be remembered for some time for its simplicity, for its beauty, and for the wealth of feeling that prompted it.

With representatives of various organizations present, Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger, long a well known civic worker of this city, was honored with the presentation of a memorial tree, which has been planted in the front yard of Temple Israel grounds. The tree is the gift of the New Castle Section, Council of Jewish Women, but while this group is responsible for the gift, the good wishes of thousands of New Castle people accompany their courtesy.

Mrs. J. F. Perelman in Charge

The meeting was in charge of Mrs. J. F. Perelman who asked Rabbi J. B. Menkes to open it with prayer, following which a group of school children gave the "Salute to the Flag" and Miss Florence Weinberg sang "Trees" accompanied by Mrs. Eli Kaplan.

Various organizations were then heard from, each one being represented by members who brought the greetings of the organization. The Federated Clubs were represented by Mrs. S. M. Matheny, B'Nai Brith by Abe Gonick, Ladies Relief, by Mrs. S. M. Broida, Hadassah by Mrs. Harry Cukerbraum, Beth Shalom Sisterhood by Mrs. Eli Kaplan, Beth Shalom Congregation by Dr. Eli Kaplan, Temple Israel Congregation by Marcus Feuchtwanger, Temple Sisterhood by Mrs. A. Goodstein, Junior Council by Miss Jeanette Rabinowitz, B'Nai Brith Alumni by Mrs. William L. Cosel. Bart Richards spoke briefly. Mrs. Jack Frank presented a reading, "Plant A Tree," following which Mrs. J. F. Perelman made the formal presentation.

With her voice unsteady with emotion, Mrs. Feuchtwanger responded. Not a long speech for obviously this was impossible, but a happy one. It was a most unusual sort of affair, one in which the many organizations found pleasure in joining. It was the opportunity to pay a tribute of respect and esteem to a woman whose life has been devoted in altruistic service and the testimonial while she is yet able to enjoy it was most appropriate.

Rabbi J. B. Menkes, of Temple Israel read a poem which he had written for the occasion and which follows at the end of this article.

The singing of America and the benediction by Rabbi Menkes brought the meeting to a close.

The Joyful Tree

Not many a tree will e'er achieve
Th' exalted place to me assigned;
Not many a book, whose printed leaf
Can tell the tale in me confined.

My roots are firm, snugly nestled
In hallow'd soil's selected spot,
Because of a soul that brav'ly wrestled,
To help and brighten mankind's lot.

By tender hands I here was brought
And planted with great and utmost care,
Because I reveal a tender thought,
And utter a true and fervent prayer.

The thought arose and is set apart
To mark a homage justly earned;
The prayer flows from every heart,
That deeply in goodness is concerned.

They pray that many a happy ear
Be granted in joy and endless bliss
To her, whose name I gladly bear,
Whose life to God was a sacrifice.

My head to heav'n I proudly rear,
My boughs as praying hands extend,
Because of the woman whose name I bear,
The goodly life I do commend.

To Mrs. Nell Feuchtwanger, whose grand renown
Adorns this tree and blesses our whole town.

Lovingly dedicated by
Rabbi J. B. Menkes

Liquor Charge Is Preferred

Thomas Lee, negro, said to reside on South Jefferson street, was arrested about 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon on Moravia street, by officers of the city, when it was found that he was transporting a quantity of liquor on his person.

A search of his person revealed the fact that he had a gallon of moonshine in a hot water bottle hidden under his vest, police say.

Lee claimed that he had been given a dollar by a man, whom he apparently, was unable to name, to get the stuff and bring it to him at that place.

This morning, he was turned over to Alderman Green, where a charge of violating the Snyder Act was made against him by Chief of Police C. C. Horner. In default of bail, he has been placed in the county jail pending the disposition of his case.

Floyd Bennett Has Double Pneumonia, Condition Critical

New York Specialist Arrives In Quebec To Aid In Saving Flier's Life

Cannot Expect Crisis For Several Days; Wife At Bedside

(International News Service)

QUEBEC, Que., April 24.—Gamely resisting the ravages of double pneumonia and pleurisy, Floyd Bennett, who piloted Commander Richard E. Byrd's plane to the north pole and back, was fighting for his life today at the Jeffrey Hale hospital here.

Dr. Alvan L. Barach, a specialist at the Presbyterian hospital who arrived here from New York and Mrs. Bennett yesterday afternoon, is pessimistic about the flier's condition.

After viewing two ex-ray pictures in consultation with Dr. William H. Delaney, superintendent of the hospital, Dr. Barach made the following announcement to newspapermen:

"Mr. Bennett is suffering from double pneumonia and pleurisy. He is a very sick man. His temperature is 103 and his pulse 124. I do not expect the crisis for two or three days and have made arrangements to stay here for several days at least."

Oxygen Treatment.

Bennett is receiving oxygen treatment. Dr. Barach brought two tanks from New York with him and immediately after his arrival telephoned for five more. He also asked A. Anthony, his technician, an expert in administering oxygen to pneumonia patients, to come here to help save Bennett's life.

Mrs. Bennett was allowed to stay with her husband only for a few minutes. She kissed his hands and cried a little and then was taken to an adjoining room and put to bed. She also is ill. She is suffering from a severe case of tonsilitis.

Commander Byrd is expected here this afternoon. He missed the train which would have brought him here from Boston last night.

Bennett left a sick bed in Detroit to pilot the Ford relief plane to Greenley Island. He collapsed after the plane landed at Murray Bay and was rushed here.

Sailor "Wants In"

Youth, Without Country, Once Deported, Would Adopt United States

PETER MICKALAESKI
By DAVID H. GLICKMAN
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News

OAKLAND, Cal., April 24.—While Peter Mickalaeski, 34, a sailor, may technically have no native land, he is prepared to adopt the United States even though he is forced to spend months on end in the Alemeda county jail.

The United States has frankly told Peter that it would rather see him back in Russia, where he was born, and to where, some ten years ago, he was deported as an undesirable.

Wants to Remain

Peter, who likes the United States, and takes no pains to conceal his aversion to deportation, insists that his birthplace, the name of which he can't recall, has since been incorporated in what is now Lithuania.

"I was born in Russia," he says, "but the district is now a part of Lithuania. So I have no native land. I came here when I was young—24 years ago, and I'm going to stay here if I can."

For several months Peter has been in the county jail while officials of the Immigration Bureau in Washington puzzle over his case. There is no intimation as to just when a ruling will be handed down.

Arrested in San Jose, Calif., November 22, 1927, Michalaeski promptly demanded a formal ruling on his status in view of the shifts during recent years in the map of Europe.

Threatens Return

While in jail Peter wrote his mother in Scranton, Pa., that "while they may deport me, I'll be back in three months."

Authorities say he is perfectly capable of carrying out this boast, inasmuch as he was gone just three months the last time he was shipped out of the country.

Meanwhile he is eating three meals a day and is said to be considering a request that his cell be kalsomined and otherwise tidied up so that he can have a homelike atmosphere while waiting for the decision.

Aged Man Saved From Years Of Awful Misery

Attributes Remarkable Change To Using Celebrated Ten Herbs.

"I am a man of 70 years, and when a medicine can benefit a man of my age like Ten Herbs did, it must have merit," was the statement of Mr. Charles Dowling, 208 Ellis Street, East End, Pittsburgh, Pa., to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine to crowds of people. "I want to tell you my experience, after taking three bottles of Ten Herbs," continued Mr. Dowling, who is employed by the Duquesne Laundry.

MR. CHARLES DOWLING

"For years, my stomach caused me to feel miserable. I lost my appetite, and what little I ate would cause gas, bloating and pains. These pains were continuous the last two years, and I had not known a good night's rest during that time. My bowels were so constipated that I used salts regularly. My liver was sluggish, and I would get such dizzy spells that I would have to hold to something to keep from falling. My kidneys seemed to cause the severe pains across my back, and I was compelled to arise half a dozen times during the night. I had neuritis in my hands, and my circulation was so poor that my hands and feet were always cold and numb.

"I gained relief soon after starting to use Ten Herbs, and now all my old troubles have disappeared. I sleep so soundly that it does not seem possible after all these years of suffering. The pain in my left side, from which I suffered for two long years, has entirely left me. The dizzy spells and pains across my back are gone, and most nights I do not have t arise at all. Neuritis in my hands has been relieved, and my circulation has been wonderfully improved. I have gotten the same satisfactory results that everybody who uses Ten Herbs tells about. I am in good health now and it shows in my appearance. I am glad to speak a good word for a medicine that has such splendid qualities as Ten Herbs.

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

How Man Has Conquered North Atlantic Through the Air

Map, drawn by R. J. Walrath, through courtesy New York Times.

Map shows routes of pilots who have successfully bridged the North Atlantic. Above, Arthur W. Brown and John Alcock, who made the first eastbound crossing, in 1919, from Newfoundland to Ireland, in 16 hours (still the record for speed) in a twin-motored plane of the bombing type, developed in England. Below, right, the first to make a non-stop westward flight, the three heroes of German plane Bremen (flying from Dublin, Ireland, to Greenly island, off Labrador), Captain Hermann Koehl, Baron von Huenefeld and Major James Fitzmaurice. Below, left, is a flying boat, said to be a prototype of the large flying boat of the future, being designed by German aeronautical engineers for ocean travel.

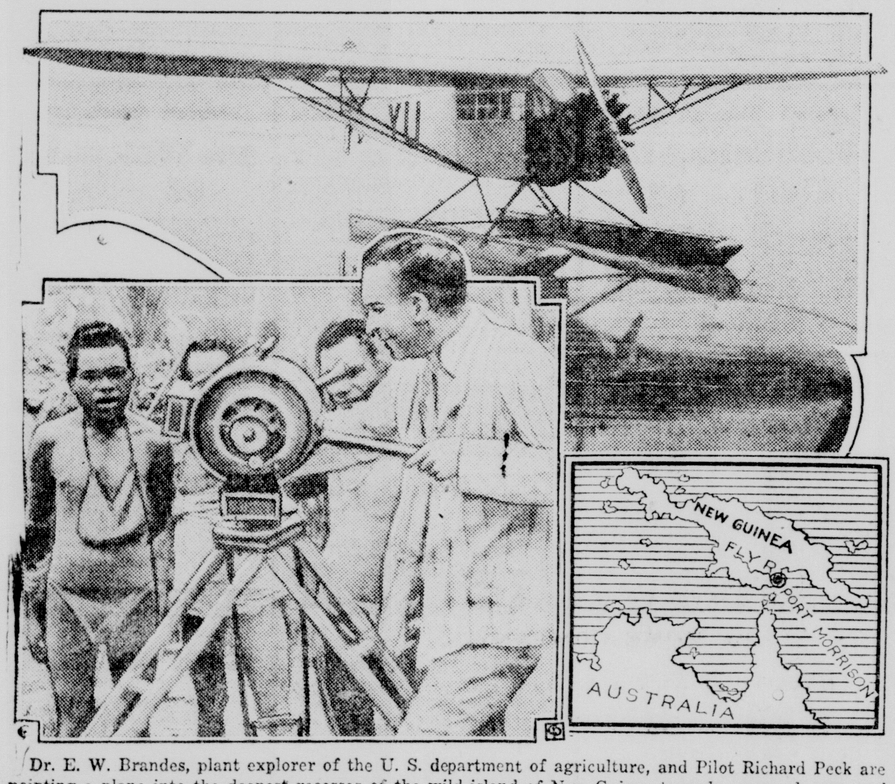

MAKE READY FOR ARRIVAL OF TRANSATLANTIC FLIERS

Most elaborate plans are being made in New York and Mitchel field for the arrival of Major Fitzmaurice (lower left), and Baron Von Huenefeld and Capt. Koehl (upper left and right). Here is Mitchel field where they will land and lower right is a sample of the decorations which will be on every post along the line of the welcoming parade.

AIR EXPEDITION HUNTS CHEAPER SUGAR FOR U. S.

Dr. E. W. Brandes, plant explorer of the U. S. department of agriculture, and Pilot Richard Peck are pointing a plane into the deepest recesses of the wild island of New Guinea to make sugar cheaper and more plentiful on U. S. tables. They are seeking primitive sugar cane on the wild island off Australia with which to re-establish the domestic sugar industry in the U. S. Above is a view of the plane being used on the expedition; below, left, Peck is shown photographing natives on a former expedition, and, right, a map of the island.

CHINESE NATIONALISTS WINNING

Nationalists have scored great victories in China, probably sealing the fate of Peking, capital and stronghold of the North China government. General Chiang Kai Shek, lower right, southern commander-in-chief of the Nationalist armies, announced that his forces had almost completely annihilated the Shantung armies under the northern commander, Marshal Sun Chuan Fang. A report followed that his superior, Marshal Chang Tso Lin, Mukden war lord, had ordered the evacuation of Shantung province in order to concentrate defense on Peking. (Both men are shown at top.) The Nationalist troops have occupied the towns of Tsining and Yenchowfu in southwestern Shantung province, while General Feng, left below, operating for the Nationalists from the west, has taken the strategic centers of Changtefu and Tamingfu on the Peking-Hankow railway. Prisoners and wounded are being taken to Nanking. The Nationalist capital and base is at Hankow.

STRICKEN RELIEF FLYER BEING RUSHED TO HOSPITAL

Central Press telephoto, flown to New York by plane, of Floyd A. Bennett, arrow pointing, stricken with pneumonia at Lake St. Agnes, Canada, being placed aboard a plane to carry him to a Quebec hospital. Bennett, with Bernt Balchen, was flying from Detroit with repair parts for the transatlantic plane Bremen, at Greenely island, off Labrador. This is first picture of Bennett to arrive from the north.

LARGE CITY KIDNAPS SMALL ONE

Averyville, Ill., population 5,000, declares big Peoria, next door, is annexing it without a right. C. W. Anderson, left, Averyville mayor, refused to divulge the combination of the town safe, whereupon Peoria officers had the safe drilled open, as shown above. But the greatest indignity (according to Averyville insurgents) was when two big Peoria policemen arrested the Averyville police chief for impersonating an officer, when, as a matter of fact, not recognizing the annexation, he was merely performing his erstwhile duties, walking the street and swinging a billy.

Dolores in News

Dolores Del Rio, Mexican film star, has been reported as having foiled a $100,000 kidnaping plot in which she has been the marked victim for the past two months. Several persons were reported under arrest in Los Angeles, Cal., in the case. Dolores, who is also seeking a divorce, is shown here in a new surf frock of rubberized silk and Turkish toweling.

It is rather difficult to judge the social status of the new neighbors until you smell their dinners cooking.

Police Hear Of Local Thefts

Officer U. G. Harper last night reported that some person stole some automobile accessory parts from the rear of Crowl's place of business.

Paul K. Steel, 449 County Line street, reported that while looking at the police car on White street that his watch was lost or stolen.

L. C. Star of 405 Haus street, reported last night that some one stole a spare tire from his car while it was parked near the Comfort station.

Lewis West reported last night that some person stole a spare tire from his machine while it was parked near the Murphy Five and Ten store.

The laws aren't respected? Well, diamonds wouldn't be if they were as numerous as pebbles.

The flyers are shown above, Wilkins top, and below, a view of the plane in which they accomplished the flight.

Nicaraguan Rebels Continue Attacks Upon Americans

(International News Service)

PUERTO CABEZAS, Nicaragua, April 24.—Reports were current here today that the rebel bands which raided American owned mines in the Pispis river district are on their way to Puerto Cabezas, which is amply protected by United States marines.

According to travelers who have just arrived from the Pispis river zone the Sandinistas began raiding on April 12. Only one American was made a prisoner, according to this latest information, which is not yet officially confirmed.

According to reports there were two rebel bands of 200 men each, under command of Guatemalan, Honduran, Mexican and Nicaraguan officers.

The travelers said that the demonstrations were entirely anti-American and that other foreigners were not molested.

MAN BREAKS WINDOW IN GUN STORE; TAKES WEAPON; STARTS FIRING

partment Monday evening, a few minutes past 6 o'clock, when he noticed a street car motorman gesticulating excitedly to him.

He rushed out and was informed that some man had broken the window of the Rohrer gun shop, taken a gun and gone west on Water street. Roy Gaston of 106 Richelieu avenue informed Logan that he knew the man.

The larger and speedier of the police cars, Officer Dukes driving, was secured and Detective Logan and Gaston accompanied Dukes.

It was determined that the man, then unknown, had turned south and gone across the Mill street bridge. Turning east into White street, the police car reached a point near the Pennsylvania station, formerly Morrows, when Gaston, looking up the Pennsylvania tracks exclaimed "There he is".

Gun Battle Starts.

Detective Logan was alighting when the man saw them. Dukes and Gaston also got out of the car, all three being on the side of the car opposite from that exposed to Gordon. Gordon fired a couple of shots in a wild manner, then stepped behind a telephone pole and laying the barrel of his gun on a step or stirrup used in climbing the pole, took deliberate aim. Two of the bullets came within inches of the point where Dukes had been seated in driving. The officers and Gaston kept under cover, dukes returning the fire, until he had emptied his gun twice and exhausted his ammunition. Detective Logan reserved some of his ammunition.

The shooting brought spectators and the officers tried to get them to summon assistance from the police station. This was finally done and Lieutenant Hillers and Officers Neison and Thompson answered in another police car.

In the meantime Gordon got into the lumber piles of the Citizens Lumber company. Officers Logan and Dukes took advantageous spots awaiting help. The officers learned that Gordon had climbed the fence at the other side of the lumber yard and was going up Shadyside to Pearson street.

There was evidence that Gordon was injured in the right hand. He left a bloody trail wherever he touched anything. He may have been shot in the exchange of bullets with Dukes or may have cut his hand in getting the gun out of the Rohrer window.

Chase on Foot.

The officers started up through the Shadyside district. The big police car went bad and the chase was continued on foot. Almost out of breath and without ammunition, Dukes reached the top of the steps from Shadyside to Pearson street and stepped out in the street, when Gaston, standing in the midst of a group of women and children on the east side of Pearson street at Bartram avenue, fired at him. Dukes ducked back of the building. The bullet crashed through a second floor window of the Kline apartment. The officer could not have used his gun had he had ammunition because of women and children near. In the meantime, Gordon continued down Pearson street. Dukes met Officer M. J. Young, who had rushed to Pearson street in a borrowed machine, secured some ammunition and continued the chase with Hillers, Thompson, Logan and Nelson down Pearson street and through the south side.

In the meantime Officer Nelson secured a car driven by Norman Jones and rushed to Gardner avenue. Nelson worked up the B. & O. tracks to the B. R. & P. station on Moravia street, while Jones drove back up Moravia street to the same point.

The trail led the other officers after false tips in other directions down Pearson street to Home street and down that street to the yards of the Penn Coal & Supply company, where they were informed that a peculiar acting man had passed.

The trail finally led them to the P & L. E. and Pennsylvania railroad crossing at the north end of the steel plant and a short distance from the water intake.

Here they learned from Steel Plant Officer J. T. Fry on duty there, that a man answering the description of the man sought, muttering to himself and carrying a large gun, had passed along a short time before and had gone from the bank of the river to the intake in the center of the stream over the small bridge between the two points.

Once out there, he was seen to take off his overcoat and throw it down. He had then taken what is known as the sweeps, long poles used in taking debris away from the intake, and apparently attempt to determine the depth of the water. This was 20 or 30 minutes before the officers arrived.

Dives Into Water.

About this time a P. & L. E. train came between Fry and the others witnessing the performance. Members of the train crew, however, stated that they had seen the man finally poise on the edge of the intake and dive into the water below, which is nigh and is also known to be from 10 to 20 feet in depth. It was still daylight and those watching did not see him come up. It is believed by the police and others that Gordon was drowned, although known to be a good swimmer.

The overcoat was secured and it was found to be blood stained on the right side and a blood stained handkerchief was found in the right pocket.

The identity of the man was then determined, from letters and papers found in the coat.

On learning that he was from the seventh ward, the police net was spread to that place and a number of officers were kept on duty there all night, if he should have been successful in getting out of the river. In the meantime watch was also kept on the river.

Late today he was still missing and police authorities believe he will be found in the river.

It is said that Gordon had a gun similar to that stolen from the Rohrer window. He is also said to have had a belt filled with bullets. The police are confident that he had two guns.

Police report that members of the family tell of him suffering a nervous breakdown some months ago, while in charge of a newspaper circulating route in Youngstown and being brought home. He was placed under the care of a local physician. His mental condition had become worse and a guard is said to have been maintained over him for a time at least. The attending physician is said to have advocated his being placed in an institution.

W. J. Hartwell reported to the police shortly after the hunt was on that he met Gordon as he went down Water street and he was on a dog trot and loading his revolver as he went. Mr. Hartwell gave him a wide berth.

A stone was used in breaking the window of the Rohrer store. The entire window was shattered and will have to be replaced.

Trainmen Saw Leap.

That Gordon actually jumped into the Shenango river from the Carnegie Steel works intake, was established this morning by Detective John Young and Officer Thomas Lynch.

They saw and interviewed Arthur Stubbs of Sharon, Pa., engineer, and Thomas Mooney, fireman, on the Erie train due here at 6:35 p. m. and which pulled in just at the time that Gordon was reported to have jumped into the river.

According to Mr. Stubbs, he saw him walking out the bridge or plank to the intake at a distance of about 40 feet from the shore, while Mooney stated to the police that he saw Gordon take off his overcoat, roll up his sleeves and jump into the river. That was the last he saw, as the engine pulled down below the Franklin bridge.

Numerous reports received that Gordon crawled out of the river on the opposite side of the stream from where he jumped in were also investigated by the officers. They searched the bank on the opposite side of the river for a quarter of a mile and found no evidence of any kind that he had been there.

In the meantime, investigation is going on at other points and no means of determining what became of Gordon has been overlooked. The Carnegie company has a police officer on guard, watching for the body, near the intake.

Physicians Advise Thin Blooded People To Eat More Liver

Hundreds of Thousands Eating Liver to Get Rich Red Blood and Strengthen Vital Forces

Hundreds of physicians in New York and other cities who have tested and prescribed a diet of beefs liver in cases of poverty of the blood or anemia are now prescribing a preparation called Hemo-Liver which is made by a scientific process from fresh beefs livers.

By this process the vital elements that are obtained by eating liver are extracted and put up in liquid form which is very palatable and pleasant to the taste.

Hemo-Liver is full of these potent substances extracted from liver which create rich red blood and strengthens the vital forces of men and women—and by taking a tablespoonful three times a day you'll get as much of the blood and health creating substances as you would get from the eating of much liver.

How a man and his corpuscles may look when his blood is thin and watery and the change that takes place when his blood is rich and red.

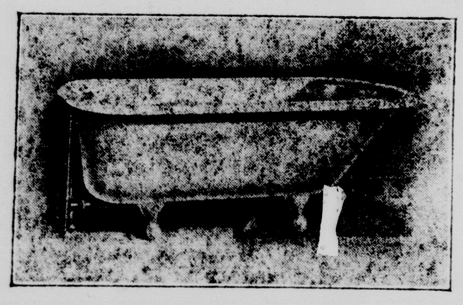

Every progressive druggist sells Hemo-Liver in a big 12-ounce bottle that will last eight days.

"Men and women who are suffering from lowered vitality, general weakness, overwork, nervous breakdown or anemia can put their faith in Hemo-Liver. For feeble old people, girls 13 to 18 and in convalescence it won't fail. It strengthens the nerves, increases the red blood cells, promotes health and rebuilds vigor and energy so quickly that often physicians are astonished."

Why not get a big bottle of Hemo-Liver today—eight days' treatment—and if after you have taken one bottle you don't say Hemo-Liver is the greatest health builder you ever heard of—get your money back.

You can get Hemo-Liver at Love & Megown.

Publicity Committee Plans Stunt Week For Chest Drive

Concerts And Benefits To Feature 1928 Community Chest Drive Week Of May 20

ELLWOOD CITY, April 24.—At the second meeting of the publicity committee on the Community Chest drive which was conducted in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the First National Bank building, last night, various plans were discussed, which had been presented at a previous meeting.

The week of activities for the Community Chest drive, which will take place the week of May 20 were gone over, and stunts, parades, pictures and concerts were planned. Speakers will be solicited for the cause, and an entirely different plan of activities has been outlined. The quota has been reduced $10,000 this year and it is expected that the 1928 quota of $41,500 will be raised before the week is finished.

The school children will receive their usual little buttons stating "I Gave" and the different seal companies are being solicited for prices. The usual red sticker heart will not be used this year, as the word "Heart" is not mentioned in the slogan. The slogan for this year "Let the Spirit of 1927 Refill Our Chest" will be emphasized from time to time, and Ellwood City is expected to go over the top financially, with a bang.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

The Story Of The "Cow Country"—Conclusion

THE GIVING AWAY OF NATIONAL DOMAIN ON THE WESTERN PLAINS SOUNDED THE KNELL OF THE "OPEN RANGE" OF THE CATTLEMAN. UNDER THE TERMS OF GALUSHA GROW'S "HOMESTEAD ACT" (1862), THE GOVERNMENT OFFERED A FREE FARM IN THE WEST TO EVERY MAN WHO WOULD GUARANTEE TO CULTIVATE HIS ACRES AND LIVE ON THEM FOR THREE YEARS.

AFTER THE CIVIL WAR, A STEADY STREAM OF FARMER EMIGRANTS FLOWED INTO THE "COW COUNTRY", AND MOVED TOWARD THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS. ON EVERY HAND AROSE THE SOD CABINS OF THE "HOMESTEADERS" AND OX-DRAWN PLOWS BROKE THE VIRGIN SOIL OF THE PRAIRIES.

FARMING COMMUNITIES CUT DEEP WEDGES IN THE GRASSLANDS, AND THE CATTLEMEN, EMBITTERED BY THE LOSS OF THEIR FREE GRAZING-GROUNDS, TRIED IN EVERY WAY TO DRIVE OUT THE NEWCOMERS. AT TIMES THERE WAS OPEN WARFARE, BUT IN THE END THE SMALL FARMERS, WHO HAD THE LAW ON THEIR SIDE, TRIUMPHED.

BROAD FIELDS OF WHEAT NOW FLOURISHED WHERE BUT A SHORT TIME BEFORE VAST HERDS OF LONG-HORNED CATTLE HAD BROWSED. THE CATTLEMEN YIELDED TO THE INEVITABLE, AND RAISED THEIR STOCK WITHIN THE FENCES OF THEIR OWN RANCHES.

TOMORROW—GENERAL GEORGE ARMSTRONG CUSTER.

TEXTOR SEEKS TWO MORE HURLERS

New Castle To Have Winning Ball Team

Manager Has Assigned Players To Their Berths This Year

OPEN PRACTICE HERE EARLY NEXT MONTH

By ED. FRITZ

Should you see a short, squat, but furtive-eyed gentleman hopping around corners and digging through alleys, peeking at baseball players on various plats, don't become alarmed—it is only George Textor, manager of the New Castle team, the said gentleman having started an intensive pursuit of two airtight baseball hurlers.

Textor now has five lined up for the Centennials, but he isn't satisfied and says that before May 5 arrives he will have cornered two more, and the two to be added to the string must be airtight pitchers—hurlers who can win without being given a margin of a run or two to put them in front.

He has Cavelier, Washington State College; Ruetez, Michigan U. star; Coen, of last year's Erie aggregation; Hamilton, from the Southern League and Hensil of Dartmouth already in the bag, but according to Georges himself, one of the four will go, and it looks like Hamilton is due for the tin can route.

Textor to Run Team

A few nights ago Textor arrived here in his silk lined gas cart and unfolded the names of the players he has signed to represent New Castle, and if names and reputations mean anything, and they assuredly do in the national pastime, the New Castle club is going to be some club this summer.

Textor is no ham-and-egg manager and neither is he one of those "trial managers". He's a chap who knows baseball, doesn't allow anyone else on the team to run the manager and he is coming here to take sole charge of the team, and when "Who's Who" is questioned, everybody will find George Textor is the boss.

He played with the Cincinnati Reds in 1906, went to the Giants for three years, and after that won three O. & P. League flags. He was with New Orleans, and when he hopped to the Federal League he was with Indianapolis, when as assistant manager he helped Indianapolis capture the pennant.

Has Signed Players

He has been leading Massillon for 10 years and has won every series with every leading club in the country, including the once great teams at Oil City, Franklin, Allegheny Steel and others. Many major league clubs have bowed before teams managed by Textor. Through these many years he has been the "McGraw", and like John, he is the boss director.

So far the players who have been signed follow:

Yocheimer, a catcher from the Mississippi Valley League.

McCoy and Grimes, first basemen. McCoy has been a star in the O. & P. and Grimes is a hard hitting, fast fielder and comes from the Toledo A. A. club. Both are trying out for the job.

Shannon, with the St. Louis Browns for two years, has cinched the job at second base, and Dickerson is covering short.

Hughes, returned from the Cleveland Americans last week, and Knapic, Geneva College, are fighting it out for third and it looks as though third base will be well taken care of.

McCullough in Outfield

McKay, House of David star; Kenny Hogan, perhaps the greatest one-run man in semi-pro baseball; McCullough and Zwoder will comprise the outfield. McCullough will be used as a utility third baseman and in the field. There is no doubt but that the garden will be well taken care of with this quartet.

Textor will bring the club to practice here May 1, 3 and 4, so the fans can see for themselves what kind of a team he has moulded together. Unless he was sure of himself Textor would not do this, but it looks as he said the other night: "New Castle is going to have a winning ball club this season."

SORDS POINTS

Uncle Wilbert Robinson, Once Game's Best Catcher, Has Become Baseball's Beloved Manager

By JACK SORDS
Sports Cartoonist-Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

Wilbert Robinson, rotund, genial and highly publicized manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is now in his 15th year as manager of those Flatbush fellows and his 45th year in organized baseball.

It begins to look as though our Uncle Robbie is getting along in years. The portly leader began his career in 1883 with Haverhill, Mass., as a catcher. He signed to work behind the bat for the Philadelphia Athletics in 1886 and stayed with that organization two years before moving to the famous old Baltimore Orioles. Here Robbie made up the last half of the noted battery of McMahon and Robinson, one of the greatest in baseball history and on one of the greatest teams of all time.

Robbie was a splendid catcher. Inside that big head of his he had a plethora of brains. He was a wise old bird with the agility of a cat and a throwing arm that amazed fans. And he could hit. Robbie holds the all-time record for making the most hits in a single game—seven. This was on June 10, 1892, against the St. Louis club.

In 1900 the famous Orioles disbanded. Its star players scattered over the land in much the same fashion as were the Athletics years later. Robbie went to St. Louis where he managed the Cardinals for two years, and then retired from baseball.

The lure of the game, however, was too much for the old backstop and he returned to the national pastime in 1908. He joined the Giants as coach in 1909 and signed to manage Brooklyn in 1914.

Robinson is now 63 years old, but his interest in the game has never waned. He is one of the most popular managers ever connected with the pastime and has always been known for the manner in which he won the loyalty and cooperation of his players.

The game has been good to Robbie, and why shouldn't it? He has given the best of his life to it.

Hagen Up To His Old Trick Again

Walter Hagen May Ask British Postpone Pro Golf Match For Few Days

EVIDENTLY FORGETS PRESSING ENGAGEMENT

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, April 24.—Among those who seem to be indulging in the quite fashionable hobby of biting off more than they can masticate at popular prices is Walter Hagen the widely dressed golfer.

Hagen today is aboard the Aquitania some distance off the coast of England. He probably will do well to land at Southampton by tomorrow morning and arrive in London by tomorrow night. Thirty-six hours later he will be playing his 72-hole match with Archie Compston for the professional championship of the world which is drawing the decision a bit fine even for a man who didn't bother about a passport until he arrived in New York the day the Aquitania sailed.

This statement of course, does Hagen an injustice .Somebody else bothered about it when the time came.

With the same insouciance it may be that Hagen will ask for a postponement of the Compston match upon his arrival possibly explaining to the patient British that he forgot to have one of the under secretaries remind him of the engagement. It looks like a great spot for the British to laugh very rudely in a high falsetto. They probably will be able to recall without great difficulty the fact that this is the same Walter Hagen who kept Abe Mitchell waiting while the American was losing an hour or so going back for another can of staycomb.

"The Duchess of Chicago" is the latest dramatic hit in Vienna, says a cablegram. It is said the dancing is American but there is no reference to the shooting stars.

Physical courage is the kind that enables you to take a cold bath; moral courage is a result of the bath.

Personalities In Sport

EPPA RIXEY

Eppa Rixey, star lettie with the Cincinnati Reds, was born at Culpepper, Va., May 3, 1891.

Rixey began his professional baseball career in the National league and has remained there ever since. He was with the Phillies from 1912 to 1920 when he was traded to Cincinnati for Greasy Neale and Jimmy Ring.

Before going into professional ball Rixey pitched for the University of Virginia.

Track Meet At Franklin Field

Unless Jupiter Pluvius decides to stay in New Castle and vicinity today and cast his ballot in the spring primary, the New Castle High school annual class track and field meet will be started this afternoon at Ben Franklin field at 3:30 o'clock.

The class meet generally produces some startling races and the event this year is expected to bring out some first-class material. The track candidates have been hard at work for the past two weeks and are ready for their carnival.

Coach Bridenbaugh hopes to uncover some heretofore overlooked track star in the meet. It is likely that the meet will take two days to complete the various events.

Castaways Are Aiding Browns

League Discards Help St. Louis Browns To Stay In Race, Howley Says

CINCINNATI REDS TOPPLE CARDINALS

By LES CONKLIN.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 24.—Dan Howley, genial pilot of the St. Louis Browns, is one of those geniuses who can shuffle the discards of a poker deck and deal himself a winning layout. No less than six of the nine St. Louis players who handed Cleveland a 4 to 2 trimming yesterday were discarded by other major league clubs. They are McNeeley, O'Rourke, Manush, Blue, Schang and Gray.

Supported by Kress and Brannon the rookie keystone combination and Schulte a second year man, these veterans are keeping the Browns in the race. Gray who once won something like ten straight games for Connie Mack already has turned in three victories this season.

Ownie Carroll, Detroit's ex-collegian gained a 3 to 0 decision in a mound duel with Connally of the White Sox. Cissell, Chicago's $135,000 shortstop contributed a ten-cent wild throw which staked the Tigers to two runs.

Errors Costly.

The western clubs in the national loop appear to be evenly matched at the present moment. Pittsburgh swamped the Cubs yesterday 6 to 0 and the Reds shaded the Cardinals 3 to 2. Ray Kremer, Pirate pitching ace held the Cubs to three hits and won under wraps with the aid of five hits by the walloping Waner Brothers.

Three St. Louis errors helped the Reds score all their runs in the third inning.

The Parkville boys incidentally shape up stronger today as the result of the signing of Pitcher Pete Donohue.

Double-headers are piling up for eastern clubs of both leagues. Rain has kept them idle all week.

A woman may be as old as she looks but it is hard to tell it these days.

Better Than Frisch?

By Feg Murray

In 1926, Hughie Critz, of the Reds, was the fielding sensation of the National League, as far as second-basemen went, and in 1927 Frankie Frisch corralled the honors for keystone guardians. Now critics from the Rhineland are boasting that Hughie will top them all again in 1928, and that his stellar work in the training season and in the opening games gives proof that there is not a better fielding second baseman in the older circuit. Frisch's fielding average in 1927 was .979, while Critz's 1926 mark was .981, but Frankie had 96 more chances than Hughie.

Critz, it will be remembered, was a hold-out during the first part of last year's race and didn't approach his 1926 form until summer. Even at that, he finished the season with a fielding mark of .969. His batting, never his strong point, nevertheless was higher than in 1925 and 1926, and while he cannot hope to compete with Frisch or Hornsby on the offense, he can be, and probably will be, the best defensive second baseman in the league. He is extraordinarily fast in going in either direction, and it is his ground-covering ability combined with his fine work in double plays and speed on the bases that makes his future so unusually bright for one who is now in his fifth major league season.

Critz, a graduate of Mississippi A. & M. College, will have opposition from another university man besides Frisch, for Andy Cohen, youthful Jewish second baseman of the Giants, played at the University of Alabama and is a wonderful fielder. Neither Hornsby nor Fresco Thompson, second sacker of the Phillies, are college men, but both are finished fielders and the race between Critz, Frisch, Hornsby, Thompson, and Cohen for the title of "best defensive second baseman in the National League" should serve as one of the interesting sidelights of the 1928 season.

Feg Murray Says—

First golfer: "I got into that trap at the eighteenth again today."

Second golfer: "You poor cheese!"

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN
(Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News)

Jack Dempsey has said that he has "quit the ring" for good, that he realizes full well he is done as a fighter, and doesn't care to find himself wandering about punch drunk as a result of taking more poundings, just for the coin he might pick up.

One can't imagine a more tragic spectacle than that of the once great Dempsey roaming about, as many a valiant fighter has done—somewhat dazed from incessant beatings about the head—carrying but one thought, that of showing the world that he is still as good as he "ever was".

It is the men of Dempsey's type who finally wind up that way. The kind who have always taken two or three to land one. Dempsey's features show the effect of this, in puffed eyebrows, puffed cheek bones, heavy lips, scars specking his eyebrows, cheeks and face.

Most of these fighters have lived outside the ring as they have fought in it—wasting their energy in the very delight of it. Blessed at the start with rugged physiques, they have abused them, with luxuries and pleasures which were beyond them in the earlier days.

There is no real reason why Dempsey should continue in the game until he hits the long trail of these beaten heroes, to find himself sidetracked and eventually pitied by those who once idolized him.

If he has begun to feel the effects of the Firpo slugfest, the incessant hammering of Tunney's left against his head for 20 rounds, and other poundings he took while beating his way to fame, he ought to make good his announced decision to quit the ring.

If he is using the old stunt for ordinary publicity purposes—to keep himself before the public while the Tunney-Heeney battle is being ballyhooed and staged—it would be labeled a cheap piece of horse play on Dempsey's part—and rightly so.

Another announcement is that the B. & O. girls have challenged the Shamrocks, a girls' team of this city, for a game to be rolled Monday night, the losers to provide a dinner for the victors.

Kremer Allows Bruins But Three Hits As Pirates Wallop Ball

GLENN WRIGHT SMASHES HOMER

CHICAGO, April 24.—Ray "Whiz" Kremer, Pirate star moundsman, whizzed them right by the Chicago Cubs on Monday afternoon, and at the finish of the afternoon the Bruins had three hits, but the Pirates had 12 hits and the score was 6 to 0.

It was the first time this year that the Pittsburgh opponents had been forced to witness such an exhibition from the Pirate hurlers and maybe they were too surprised to hit. Anyway Kremer had the Cubs biting hard and he had the distinction of fanning Cuyler, Wilson and English, the heavy sluggers.

"Pat" Malone, who last year wore the raiment of the Minneapolis team of the Association, hurled a fine game for the Cubs, but was yanked in the eighth for a pinch-hitter and Artie Nehf finished the game. Malone fanned seven of the Pirates.

Paul Waner led the Pirate attack with three hits and two runs, Lloyd Waner, Wright and Traynor having two hits apiece. Wright smote a homer in the first inning to give the Pirates a two-run lead.

The Pittsburgh bludgeons were working overtime yesterday and it was a relief to Manager Donie Bush to see the boys smote the apple.

YANKEE GOLFERS INVADE BRITAIN

Extend Amateur Tourney Bouts

(International News Service)

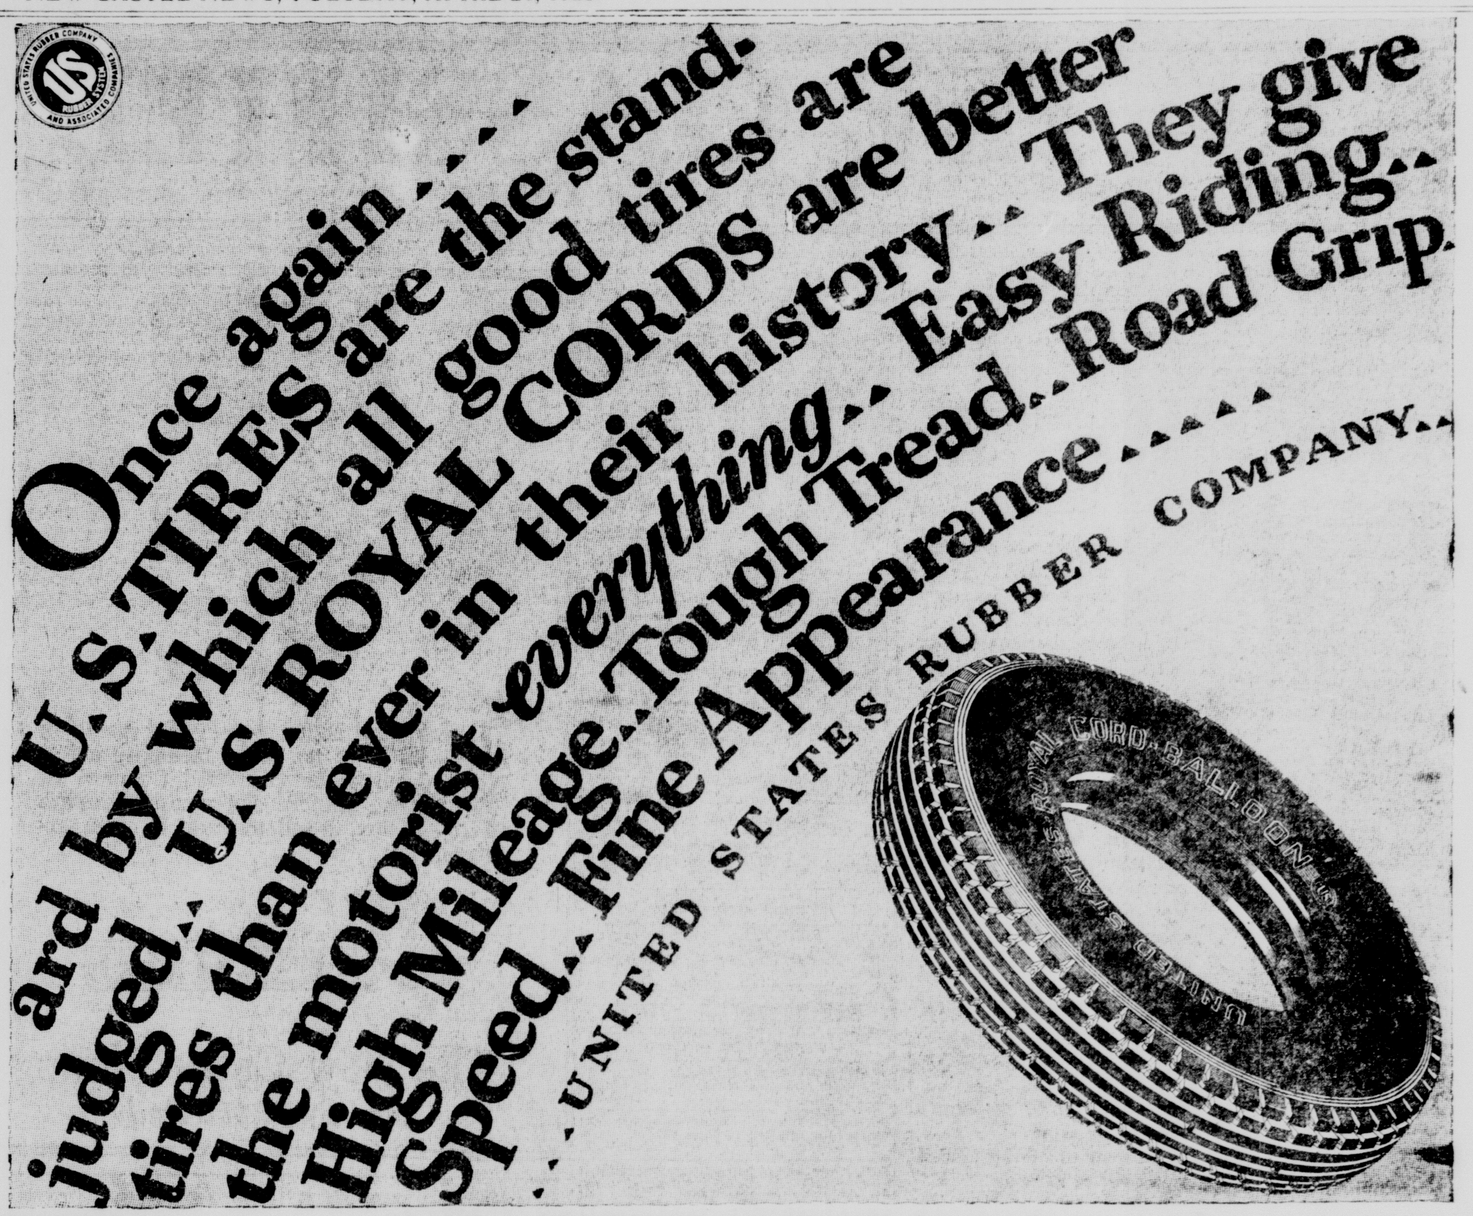

BOSTON, April 24.—After more than 11 hours of boxing and with 103 bouts yet to be determined the A. A. U. boxing committee early today decided to extend the 1928 national amateur championships and Olympic tryouts to a third evening. With many of the boxers complaining against the long session, it was decided to extend the tournament one night. The contest night will consist of 72 bouts in the trial rounds with 24 semi-final and final bouts on the card for tomorrow.

LEXINGTON HAS FIVE DERBY HOPES

When the nags spring away from the barrier at Churchill Downs, Louisville, Ky., at the start of the 1928 Kentucky Derby, the city of Lexington, Ky., regarded as a great center of turf breeding, hopes to have five candidates in the gallop, one of them a winner. The last Lexington horse to take the classic was Bubbling Over, shown here at the end of the 1926 race, with Jockey A. Johnson up. Below are the five hopes, left to right, Dodgson, Marty Flynn, Lieut. Mansfield, Lucky Hit and Dark Eagle.

Army And Illinois Gridders Arrange Home And Home Games For 1929-1930

(International News Service)

WEST POINT, N. Y., April 24.—West Point and the University of Illinois will play home-and-home football games in 1929 and 1930, it was stated officially at the United States Military Academy today. The 1929 game will be played in the stadium of the University of Illinois and the 1930 game either at West Point or New York City.

Both games will be played in November. The exact dates will not be set until later.

NOTICE

Baseball scores and notices turned into the Sport Department of The News must be in the office the night the game is played, or in an emergency not later than 9 o'clock the next morning, and must be written plainly, and be complete. All articles must be signed and include the address and telephone number of the sender.

Sport Ritticisms

By BILL RITT

Now that the school boys have taken to the boats, some of our most noted college athletes are rowing nowhere in a hurry.

Rivers are so full of oars and speeding shells, fish circles report alarm over the new traffic problem.

Most shells are equipped with eight oars and a megaphone. The guy with the megaphone sits in back, but has front view. His hardest job is to keep his adjectives free from his pronouns.

He does all the talking while the other boys perspire. After leaving school he should become a congressman.

Once in a while during a rowing race a boat hits a bridge. The bridge always wins and the rowers take a bath. That's why the races are always held on Saturday.

Some of these shells cost 3,000 plasters apiece so when an uneducated log rams a collegiate craft it's a marine disaster of no mean proportions.

There's a move on to keep down news of gun play in Chicago because it is figured such news gives the city a bad name. There will probably be a penalty for any reference to meteors seen there as shooting stars.

STRIBLING STILL HOPES TO BE GEORGIA'S RING ACE

William L. "Young" Stribling, Georgia pugilist, is in the midst of his second drive toward fistic fame. Strib hopes to be his state's ring star and rival Georgia's other national sport luminaries, who became each one of the greatest of his kind—Ty Cobb, baseball; Red Barron, football, and Bobby Jones, golf.

Sportraits

Johnny Hodapp is already showing the reason why the Cleveland club retained him in favor of Rube Lutzke as guardian of the hot corner for the Tribe.

Hodapp made such a good impression at Indianapolis that the Indians swapped three players for him. He was out much of the season of 1926 because of a broken ankle, but last year was such a tower of strength in the Tribe infield that the club had to regard him as its regular third-sacker.

Though he hasn't yet reached his 23rd birthday, Johnny has already played four full seasons of baseball.

N. Y. STOCKS

NEW YORK, April 24—Delaware and Hudson's spectacular 8-point jump to a new high at 222 was the principal feature of early trading in stocks today. Efforts of the bulls to rally the market centered around Radio, General Motors and United States Steel, which were jacked up about 2 points on the average in the first half hour. The tobacco stocks and the oils were active, the former registering a moderate recovery from Monday's violent slump.

Advance of the Richmond Reserve bank rate to 4½ per cent made the fourth of the government banks to fall in line with the higher rate policy. Similar action is confidently expected at the other banks this week. The call loan rate was unchanged at 5 per cent.

Stocks were freely offered in the first period, but strong bullish support behind the market leaders helped to turn the tide in favor of higher prices, and good buying of the industrials from outside sources was also in progress. Radio was whipped along to 177 for a 2½ point gain. The Standard Oils continued to display strong leadership in that section of the list.

Oil refiners marked up the price of export kerosene and gasoline, higher prices for the latter also being expected in the home markets.

Balloting Light In Philadelphia

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 24.—When the polls opened this morning in Philadelphia for the primary election, balloting for the first few hours was light, with everything pointing to the quietest day, politically, for many years.

Outside of the Germantown-Chestnut Hill district, where J. Hampton Moore, independent, is opposing Congressman George P. Darrow, there was little interest. It was estimated that less than 50 per cent of the registered voters would go to the polls.

Mistake Made In Offutt Company Adv.

In the advertisement of the W. J. Offutt Company Monday it was stated that this store had received a shipment of ladies Rayon Bloomers, which were being offered at $1.95. This was a mistake and should have read $ .95. The mistake caused the company considerable embarrassment. The correction is made for the benefit of the public and the advertiser.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT

Why not have a meat pie for dinner? Not a pie that is made of leftovers, but a pie for which you buy the raw meat in the first place. And before you make it, or after it is eaten, get out your copy of Charles Dickens' "Martin Chuzzlewit" and read how Tom Pinch's sister made a beefsteak pie and what came of it.

Meat Pie — Baked Potatoes
Fresh Vegetable Salad
Sponge Cake — Strawberries
Coffee

Today's Recipes.

Beefsteak Pie—This recipe is for uncooked steak. Take two pounds of tender steak and cut it in thin slices. Line a buttered pudding dish with good crust. Mix a tablespoon of flour, a little pepper and salt together and dip each piece of meat in the mixture and scatter a little very finely minced onion between the slices as they are arranged in the dish. Pour in enough good brown sauce, well seasoned, to fill the dish three-quarters full. Cut a round vent in the top crust and lattice it with little strips of the crust cut very fine. Bake the pie about two hours in a medium oven. Cover with paper if the crust browns too quickly. This pie is sufficient for six people. The top may have a layer of oysters or mushrooms, well seasoned, just under the crust.

Veal and Ham Pie—Cut into small pieces three pounds of breast of veal, dust with pepper and salt and stew gently for two hours, covered. Allow to cool. Line a deep dish with good crust and cover the bottom with a layer of meat, then a layer of sliced bacon. Cover with sliced hard boiled egg, a little grated onion, pepper, salt and a few grains of sugar, next meat and so on until the dish is full, heaping it higher in the center. Make a vent in the top crust, make a rich gravy from the stock the meat cooked in and fill the dish three-quarters full. Put on the crust and bake for two hours. This is sufficient for eight people. The pies are also excellent warmed over.

Suggestion.
Try Honey.

Try honey instead of sugar to sweeten the rhubarb for a change. It is good—and different.

It's a miracle when you get away with it. If somebody else does it's luck.

Voting Is Light Throughout State Reports Indicate

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 24—Reports from various sections of the state this afternoon indicated that the vote in the primary election this year will be only about 50 to 75 per cent of that of the last election. Light balloting was reported from almost every district.

The only exception was the 15th congressional district where Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the former Governor, is opposing Louis T. McFadden for the Republican nomination. Political leaders in that district reported that voting during the morning hours was fairly brisk, attributing this to the interest aroused by the spirited campaigns conducted by both candidates.

Wilkins To Fly Over South Pole

Man Who Flew Over North Pole To Make Flight In Antarctic

(International News Service.)

BURBANK, Cal., April 24. — Captain George Wilkins, who flew over the frozen roof of the world is coming directly here from his Arctic base.

This announcement was made today by W. [illegible] Jay, treasurer of the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation, who said a new plane was being built here for Captain Wilkins for a flight to the South Pole.

Jay declared Captain Wilkins' projected flight to the Antarctic would be a scientific expedition and that it would not be a race between Wilkins and Commander Byrd, who also is planning to fly to the South Pole.

The flier is expected here in a month or six weeks.

The new plane will be loaded aboard a Norwegian ship as soon as it is built and will be taken to New Zealand, where Wilkins will make his base for the flight over the South Pole, Jay said.

Just how soon it will be possible for Wilkins to start his Antarctic expedition, Jay could not say, but intimated that no time would be lost.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Freight trains on Washington street may be strange to you, but perhaps it's because you don't get down on the street late at night. Every night, just about midnight, a freight train of two cars and a puller car leave the barns on South Beaver street, and as they pull around the corner onto Washington street, one involuntarily looks for the caboose.

Some nights the load is heavier than others and making the West Washington street hill is something for the motorman to puzzle over.

This custom of planting trees in honor of outstanding citizens is getting to be one of happy recurrence. Up on the grounds of Temple Israel, at the corner of Highland and Moody, there is a testimonial tree which was presented on Monday afternoon to Mrs. Maurice Feuchtwanger by the New Castle section of the Council of Jewish Women. The tree is surrounded by the same kind of ornamental iron fence that surrounds the Greer trees in Memorial Park with the same size bronze tablet.

For many weeks it has been impossible to hold the services for Mrs. Feuchtwanger because of her health. But yesterday the lady was strong enough to be taken to the Temple and it did seem that those services were the best tonic that could have been prescribed.

Good works have been more than just a passing fancy with Mrs. Feuchtwanger. For 25 years she has been an integral part of women's club work here, putting in long hours and much energy, asking for nothing but that the work should prosper and keeping self in the background at all times. Club work, church work, charitable work, all of them have been the more successful because this lady has been in New Castle and the tree presented Monday is a most appropriate memorial for such an estimable woman. And after all, if I might borrow the Rotarian motto, "He profits most who serves best." If this be true—and of course it is—this woman is a millionaire. A millionaire in friends and good deeds, in the respect of her associates and the love of her neighbors.

These smocks are increasing in flavor and in number. The proof-readers are now affecting them and, customers, you should get an eyefull. Or three of them, for all three of the fair young things are wearing them.

There is going to be one advantage in the widening of Mercer street, and that is the benefit accruing to the world's series fans. Wider street, more room, and if Pittsburgh wins the pennant again this year, we'll need all of it.

And also it will help when the boys and girls park double on the street. Two feet on each side is nearly the width of one car.

How To Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENE RUBINSTEIN
Noted Beauty Expert

BEAUTY TONICS FOR SPRING

Do you remember the days when the first sign of the robin brought out the sulphur and molasses bowl? I do—in fact, I am fairly certain that there are many, many homes where the spring tonic is still an institution.

Spring is bound to do strange things to your energy and ambition. The body must regulate itself to changes in weather. The blood which has been flaming rich and warm through the winter months, must thin out a bit if the body is to maintain normal temperature, and during this metamorphosis, laziness tiredness, a general slackening up of circulation is inevitable.

Hence the spring tonic—and while we generally think of tonics merely for internal physical use, let me assure you that a different kind of spring tonic is equally essential for your skin!

The slackened circulation which is affecting your body is affecting your skin, too. The tissues are lazy, lethargic, refusing to perform their natural duties, and the pores are sluggish. If you don't watch out another month will find you with an ugly little crop of blackheads.

The skin must be stimulated. Stimulation alone will force these tissues and blood cells to new activity—and the first thing I should suggest is plenty of washing and dashing and splashing with good cold water and a good, animating stimulant.

I have talked so much on the subject of chemical stimulation versus ice that I hardly think I need repeat it all again, but I cannot resist this little warning. The shock of ice applied to the skin results very often in little red veins easily visible, difficult to correct, and very disfiguring. Your skin will not stand harsh treatment. It is highly sensitive, and these masterful correctives are more often harmful than beneficial. A chemical stimulant will whip the circulation into immediate action—stinging inanimate tissues into quick response, and making the skin doubly receptive to the treatment to follow.

Some good skin-clearing cream, which not only purifies but also stimulates and bleaches very mildly, will add to the good work of rousing your beauty—which you will probably agree—has hibernated for the winter months, and then a real skin toning lotion will add to the good work of stimulation, and at the same time develop again the velvety smoothness of a well cared for skin.

These are spring tonics for the skin. They are much pleasanter to "take" than the blood tonics which used to be so sure to make their appearance at this time of the year. You will find them simple of application and quick of result, and your listless skin will be grateful for the attention of a little consistent, scientific care!

Will Try To Unite Two Mercer Churches

First And Central Presbyterian Churches To Be Visited By Presbytery

MERCER, Pa., April 24.—The committee of the Erie Presbytery of the Presbyterian church appointed in an advisory capacity to affect a union of the two Presbyterian churches of Mercer if possible will visit the town soon, it is announced today.

The churches affected are the First Presbyterian and Central Presbyterian that have functioned as separate units since the founding of the Central Presbyterian church October 20, 1863.

The committee will be empowered to make suggestions such as they deem advisable for the welfare of the denomination here.

As the action has been brought about by members of the Presbytery desirous of only the church welfare a new condition is faced by the members of the two churches.
